How We Teach Science John L. Rudolph, 2019-06-01 A former Wisconsin high school science teacher makes the case that how and why we teach science matters especially now that its legitimacy is under attack Why teach science The answer to that question will determine how it is taught Yet despite the enduring belief in this country that science should be taught there has been no enduring consensus about how or why This is especially true when it comes to teaching scientific process Nearly all of the basic knowledge we have about the world is rock solid The science we teach in high schools in particular laws of motion the structure of the atom cell division DNA replication the universal speed limit of light is accepted as the way nature works Everyone also agrees that students and the public more generally should understand the methods used to gain this knowledge But what exactly is the scientific method Ever since the late 1800s scientists and science educators have grappled with that question Through the years they ve advanced an assortment of strategies ranging from the laboratory method to the five step method to science as inquiry to no method at all How We Teach Science reveals that each strategy was influenced by the intellectual cultural and political circumstances of the time In some eras learning about experimentation and scientific inquiry was seen to contribute to an individual s intellectual and moral improvement while in others it was viewed as a way to minimize public interference in institutional science John Rudolph shows that how we think about and teach science will either sustain or thwart future innovation and ultimately determine how science is perceived and received by the public Interest in Mathematics and Science Learning Ann Renninger, Martina Nieswandt, Suzanne Hidi, 2015-04-19 Interest in Mathematics and Science Learning edited by K Ann Renninger Martin Nieswandt and Suzanne Hidi is the first volume to assemble findings on the role of interest in mathematics and science learning As the contributors illuminate across the volume s 22 chapters interest provides a critical bridge between cognition and affect in learning and development This volume will be useful to educators researchers and policy makers especially those whose focus is mathematics science and technology education The Complete Book of Colleges, 2017 Edition Princeton Review, 2016-07 The MEGA GUIDE to 1 355 COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES No one knows colleges better than The Princeton Review Inside The Complete Book of Colleges 2017 Edition you ll find meticulously researched information that will help you narrow the search for the best college for you Each of the 1 355 user friendly profiles answers your questions including How much are tuition and other student fees and costs What types of financial aid are available and when are the applications due What do admissions officers most look for in test scores and recommendations Which majors are the most popular and have the highest enrollment What is the housing like and how accessible is technology on campus What are the key campus organizations athletics and student activities How selective is the school Plus Indexes based on cost selectivity and size that will help you narrow your search Get a leg up on your college search with this easy to use comprehensive and savvy guidebook from the experts at The Princeton Review The Growing Gap in Life Expectancy by Income National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Board on Mathematical Sciences and Their Applications, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on Population, Committee on the Long-Run Macroeconomic Effects of the Aging U.S. Population--Phase II, 2015-09-17 The U S population is aging Social Security projections suggest that between 2013 and 2050 the population aged 65 and over will almost double from 45 million to 86 million One key driver of population aging is ongoing increases in life expectancy Average U S life expectancy was 67 years for males and 73 years for females five decades ago the averages are now 76 and 81 respectively It has long been the case that better educated higher income people enjoy longer life expectancies than less educated lower income people The causes include early life conditions behavioral factors such as nutrition exercise and smoking behaviors stress and access to health care services all of which can vary across education and income Our major entitlement programs Medicare Medicaid Social Security and Supplemental Security Income have come to deliver disproportionately larger lifetime benefits to higher income people because on average they are increasingly collecting those benefits over more years than others This report studies the impact the growing gap in life expectancy has on the present value of lifetime benefits that people with higher or lower earnings will receive from major entitlement programs The analysis presented in The Growing Gap in Life Expectancy by Income goes beyond an examination of the existing literature by providing the first comprehensive estimates of how lifetime benefits are affected by the changing distribution of life expectancy The report also explores from a lifetime benefit perspective how the growing gap in longevity affects traditional policy analyses of reforms to the nation's leading entitlement programs This in depth analysis of the economic impacts of the longevity gap will inform debate and assist decision makers economists and researchers Australian Education Index, 1980 The Shifting Global World of Youth and Education Mabel Ann Brown, 2017-08-15 The Shifting Global World of Youth and Education explores how increasing migration and population changes are having an unprecedented impact on global education Given that the number of children of migrant background is growing internationally there is a need for increasing awareness of the educational attainment and cultural integration of this population group This book presents international perspectives on migration and youth and analyses what kinds of effects such demographic changes are having on educational systems around the world The chapters in this volume provide a fascinating insight into how countries around the world are dealing with loss or growth in their young population as well as changes to their education systems Written by specialist academics from the relevant country the book covers Cuba Lithuania the United Kingdom the United States Finland Greece Germany Austria Hungary Latvia China Australia India Italy and Poland Taking into consideration the countries social and political context the chapters discuss educational issues surrounding curriculum assessment and the opportunities available for the support of young people Conclusions are drawn about what could be done in the future for the benefit of both the migrant and the existing populations The Shifting Global World of Youth and Education will be of great interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the disciplines of education sociology political sciences and social work The book will also give secondary teachers teaching assistants social workers and youth workers the opportunity to reflect on their role within a national and international context Poison Ivy Evan Mandery, 2025-03-18 Hailed as a staggering portrait of inequality in America Philip Dray Poison Ivy tells the bigger seedier story of how elite colleges create paths to admission available only to the wealthy despite rhetoric to the contrary In a lively and trenchant Washington Monthly account Evan Mandery a Harvard graduate and current professor at a public college that serves low and middle income students reveals how tacit agreements between exclusive Ivy plus schools and white affluent suburbs create widespread de facto segregation And as a college degree continues to be the surest route to upward mobility the inequality bred in our broken higher education system is now a principal driver of skyrocketing income inequality Mandery contrasts the lip service paid to opportunity by so many elite colleges and universities with schools that actually walk the walk Now in an accessible paperback format Poison Ivy is a no holds barred takedown Forbes that synthesizes fascinating insider information on everything from how students are evaluated unfair tax breaks and questionable fundraising practices to suburban rituals testing tutoring tuition schemes and more This bold provocative indictment of America's elite colleges shows us exactly what's at stake and what will be possible if we muster the collective will to transform it Report Series: Committee on Astronomy and Astrophysics National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Board on Physics and Astronomy, Space Studies Board, Committee on Astronomy and Astrophysics, 2017-06-08 The 2010 astronomy and astrophysics decadal survey New Worlds New Horizons in Astronomy and Astrophysics laid out an exciting portfolio of recommended activities to guide the agencies research programs over the period 2012-2021 The newly constituted Committee on Astronomy and Astrophysics CAA is tasked with monitoring the progress of the survey's recommended priorities The CAA met in conjunction with Space Science Week 2017 in Washington D C on March 28-30, 2017 This was the first meeting at which the CAA could produce a report and in advance of that meeting the CAA received a question from NASA about an upcoming Small Explorer SMEX mission call This report addresses whether there may or may not be sufficient compelling science motivations for a SMEX sized mission to justify a SMEX Announcement of Opportunity AO in 2018 or 2019 as is currently planned Breaking Point Rebecca Schwartz Greene, 2023-01-03 WINNER SOCIETY FOR MILITARY HISTORY DISTINGUISHED BOOK AWARDS FIRST BOOK This book informs the public for the first time about the impact of American psychiatry on soldiers during World War II Breaking Point is the first in depth history of American psychiatry in World War II Drawn from unpublished primary documents oral histories and the author's personal interviews and correspondence over years with key psychiatric and military policymakers it begins with Franklin Roosevelt's endorsement of a universal Selective Service psychiatric examination followed by Army and Navy pre and post induction examinations Ultimately 2.5 million men and women were rejected or discharged from military service on neuropsychiatric grounds Never before or since has the United States engaged in such a program In designing Selective Service Medical Circular No. 1 psychiatrist Harry Stack Sullivan assumed psychiatrists could predict who might break down or falter in military service or even in civilian life thereafter While many American and European psychiatrists questioned this belief and huge numbers of American psychiatric casualties soon raised questions about screening's validity psychiatric and military leaders persisted in 1942 and 1943 in endorsing ever tougher screening and little else Soon families complained of fathers and teens being drafted instead of being identified as psychiatric 4Fs and Blacks and Native Americans among others complained of bias A frustrated General George S. Patton famously slapped two malingering neuropsychiatric patients in Sicily a sentiment shared by Marshall and Eisenhower though they favored a tamer style Yet psychiatric rejections, evacuations and discharges mounted While psychiatrist Roy Grinker and a few others treated soldiers close to the front in Tunisia in early 1943 this was the exception But as demand for manpower soared and psychiatrists finally went to the field and saw that combat itself not predisposition precipitated breakdown leading military psychiatrists switched their emphasis from screening to prevention and treatment But this switch was too little too late and slowed by a year long series of Inspector General investigations even while numbers of psychiatric casualties soared Ironically despite and even partly because of psychiatrists wartime performance plus the emotional toll of war postwar America soon witnessed a dramatic growth in numbers popularity and influence of the profession culminating in the National Mental Health Act 1946 But veterans with PTSD not recognized until 1980 were largely neglected
