State Assessment Policy and Practice for English Language Learners presents three significant studies each examining a different aspect of states strategies for including English language learners in state assessments an Analysis of State Assessment Policies Regarding Accommodations for English Language Learners a Survey and Description of Test Translation Practices and an Examination of State Practices for Reporting Participation and Performance of English Language Learners in State Assessments With the rise in population of English language learners and the subsequent stepped up legislative focus on this student population over the past decade states have been challenged to include English language learners in state assessment programs Until now the little data available on states policies and practices for meeting this challenge has been embedded in various reports and professional journals and scattered across the Internet This volume offers for the first time a focused examination of states assessment policies and practices regarding English language learners The three studies were supported by OELA the U S Department of Education s Office of English Language Acquisition Language Enhancement and Academic Achievement for Limited English Proficient Students State Assessment Policy and Practice for English Language Learners is of interest to researchers and professionals involved with the assessment of English language learners state and district level policy makers and academics teacher educators and graduate students in a number of fields including educational and psychological assessment testing and measurement bilingual education English as a second language and second language acquisition

Educational Equity and Accountability Linda Skrla, James Joseph

Scheurich, 2004-02-02 Despite the intense political attention that has been focused on accountability on standardized testing and on the equity effects of both accountability and testing the great majority of recent debate in education policy circles has failed to attend to either the dynamism or complexity of these issues and has instead been carried out in a dualistic good versus evil fashion In contrast the scholarship collected in this important new volume is designed to move beyond the prevailing dualism and to push the discourse about accountability testing and educational equity in public schools usefully forward and to provide a much needed resource for researchers policy makers and practitioners

Science Assessment in the Service of Reform Gerald Kulm, Shirley M. Malcom, 1991

Students in America don t measure up in science and mathematics a problem especially critical in a society which is becoming increasingly technology based This authoritative examination of the problem presents useful material to make assessment a tool for the meaningful reform of school science It also provides some basic guidelines for whatever system of assessment is used

Self-Reflective Renewal in Schools Bradley S. Portin, Lynn G. Beck, Michael Knapp, Joseph Murphy, 2003-02-28 The primary purpose of this study is to learn from the experiences of schools across the U S that are engaged in a largely process oriented reform strategy Schools vary in their capacity for productive self reflection The authors examine the process of self assessment that many schools engaged in during this time of widespread public attention to the equality of schools The schools examined in these cases reveal a complex interaction between the nature of the self reflective activity the schools were engaged in in this case a National Education Association school review process entitled KEYS to Success in Schools the contexts that shape the school and the readiness on the part of school staff to engage in systematic reflection around issues that affect teaching and learning The act of self reflection in schools may not provide by itself a source of new ideas alternative models and a sense of what might be possible for the school to accomplish Some external agent can often provide the impetus for or constrain the actions of school staffs in examining their programs and capacity for renewal The acts and outcomes of self reflection are inevitably guided and or constrained by various contexts including the school s history culture structure and supports and pressures provided from communities districts and states
