Disability and the Media Charles A. Riley, 2005-04-13 A journalist's passionate expose of the media's portrayal of the disabled

Under the White Gaze Christopher Cheung, 2024-09-16 Canada's multiculturalism stops where most newsrooms begin Despite recent efforts to increase diversity in the news people of colour are often presented as clichés from freeloaders to keepers of exotic cultures rather than individuals with complex stories Instead of treating diversity like a missing ingredient simply add one racialized reporter and the problem is solved journalist Christopher Cheung wants newsrooms to change how they cover stories In this candid investigation into the state of race in Canadian media today Cheung challenges the way we think about the news we read watch and listen to Real stories from recent years are examined for successes or how they fall short on representation Cheung shows us why reporting on race is necessary how the language is evolving and why intersectionality is crucial to combatting stereotypes Under the White Gaze is essential reading for aspiring and seasoned journalists media consumers and anyone wondering why race and representation are so often missing from our headlines

Serving Special Needs Students in the School Library Media Center Margaret Keefe, Robert King, 1995-05-30 School library media specialists are now considered part of the teaching staff and are charged with integrating their library and information skills curriculum with the more general classroom curriculum At the same time more and more special needs students are part of every school and every classroom Thus the media specialist must work effectively with special needs students on a regular basis to develop their information skills and must also serve as a resource to classroom teachers This professional reference offers practical information to school library media specialists on how to serve special needs students and their classroom teachers effectively The first part of the book highlights the teaching role of the media specialist and discusses how and what to teach special needs students The second part views the media specialist as an information expert who must structure the library and its resources for students with special needs The third section treats the media specialist's role as a professional who must collaborate with other teachers

Media and Politics Bettina Mottura, Letizia Osti, Giorgia Riboni, 2018-04-18 Media and politics have always been mutually influential The media plays an important political role of its own in promoting and discussing policies as well as conveying representations of power and ideology On the other hand media outlets are themselves subject to political forces that have an impact on their editorial line This mutual influence comes to light not only in journalistic practices but also in how news is constructed and conveyed This volume explores the relations between politics and various types of media as expressed in different areas of the world namely Europe Asia the Americas and the Middle East Such a complex landscape calls for a multiplicity of analytical tools and cannot ignore specific socio political geographic linguistic and cultural contexts which may be overlooked when approached from a global perspective In this volume a combination of senior scholars and young experts from a wide range of disciplines such as discourse analysis international relations and cultural studies come together in a conversation which recognizes the media as a global phenomenon without neglecting its local specificities

The Journalism Behind Journalism Gina Baleria, 2021-08-11 Today's journalists need to know both the skills of how to write interview and research as well as skills that are often thought of as more intangible This book provides a practical how to approach for developing honing and practicing the intangible skills critical to strong journalism Individual chapters introduce journalism's intangible concepts such as curiosity empathy implicit bias community engagement and tenacity relating them to solid journalistic practice through real world examples Case studies and interviews with industry professionals help to further establish connections between concept and practice and mid chapter and end of chapter exercises give the reader a concrete pathway toward developing these skills The book offers an important perspective for the modern media landscape where any journalist seeking to make an impact must know how to contextualize events hold power to account and inform their community to contribute to a healthy democracy This is an invaluable text for courses in journalism skills at both the undergraduate and graduate level and anyone training the next generation of journalists
