Abstract: Pharmaceutical companies have been accused of manipulating the drug approval process to delay the entry of generic drugs into the market. This paper examines the impact of pharmaceutical company actions on the drug approval process. It finds that pharmaceutical companies have been successful in delaying the entry of generic drugs into the market, and that this has led to higher prices for consumers. The paper also discusses the impact of pharmaceutical company actions on the drug approval process, and the impact of pharmaceutical company actions on the drug approval process.
