International Handbook of Education for Spirituality, Care and Wellbeing Marian de Souza, LESLIE J. FRANCIS, James O'Higgins-Norman, Daniel G. Scott, 2009-10-13 Acknowledging and understanding spiritual formation is vital in contemporary education This book explores the dynamic relationship between education and wellbeing It examines the theory underpinning the practice of education in different societies where spirituality and care are believed to be at the heart of all educational experiences The book recognizes that regardless of the context or type of educational experience education is a caring activity in which the development of the whole person body mind and spirit is a central aim for teachers and educators in both formal and informal learning The chapters in this handbook present and discuss topics that focus on spirituality as an integral part of human experience and consequently essential to educational programs which aim to address personal and communal identity foster resilience empathy and compassion and promote meaning and connectedness

Handbook of Cross-Cultural and Multicultural Personality Assessment Richard H. Dana, 2000-02 Throughout the world as in the United States psychologists are increasingly being called upon to evaluate clients whose backgrounds differ from their own It has long been recognized that standard personality and psychopathology assessment instruments carry cultural biases and in recent years efforts to correct these biases have accelerated The Handbook of Cross Cultural and Multicultural Personality Assessment brings together researchers and practitioners from 12 countries with diverse ethnic and racial identities and training to present state of the art knowledge about how best to minimize cultural biases in the assessment of personality and psychopathology They consider research methodology the design and construction of standard objective and projective tests the use of measures of acculturation racial identity and culture specific tests the social etiquette of service delivery and the interpretation of test data for clinical diagnosis Ranging widely through all the relevant issues they share a common collective vision of how culturally competent services should be delivered to clients The Handbook offers the first comprehensive view of a consistent approach to cultural competence in assessment a necessary precursor of effective intervention It will become an indispensable reference for all those whose practice or research involves individuals with different ethnic and racial identities

On the Psychobiology of Personality Robert M Stelmack, 2004-11-12 Zuckerman received his Ph D in psychology from New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science in 1954 with a specialization in clinical psychology After graduation he worked for three years as a clinical psychologist in state hospitals in Norwich Connecticut and Indianapolis Indiana While in the latter position the Institute for Psychiatric Research was opened in the same medical center where he was working as a clinical psychologist He obtained a position there with a joint appointment in the department of psychiatry This was his first interdisciplinary experience with other researchers in psychiatry biochemistry psychopharmacology and psychology His first research areas were personality assessment and the relation between parental attitudes and psychopathology During this time he developed the first real trait state test for affects starting with the Affect Adjective Check List for anxiety and then broadening it to a three factor trait state test including anxiety depression and hostility Multiple Affect Adjective Check List Later positive affect scales were added Toward the end of his years at the institute the first reports of the effects of sensory deprivation appeared and he began his own experiments in this field These experiments supported by grants from NIMH occupied him for the next 10 years during his time at Brooklyn College Adelphi University and the research labs at Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia This last job was his second interdisciplinary experience working in close collaboration with Harold Persky who added measures of hormonal changes to the sensory deprivation experiments He collaborated with Persky in studies of hormonal changes during experimentally hypnotically induced emotions During his time at Einstein he established relationships with other principal investigators in the area of sensory deprivation and they collaborated on the book Sensory Deprivation 15 years of research edited by John Zubek 1969 His chapter on theoretical constructs contained the idea of using individual differences in optimal levels of stimulation and arousal as an explanation for some of the variations in response to sensory deprivation The first sensation seeking scale SSS had been developed in the early 1960 s based on these constructs At the time of his move to the University of Delaware in 1969 he turned his full attention to the SSS as the operational measure of the optimal level constructs This was the time of the drug and sexual revolutions on and off campuses and research relating experience in these areas to the basic trait paid off and is continuing to this day in many laboratories Two books have been written on this topic Sensation Seeking Beyond the Optimal Level of Arousal 1979 Behavioral Expressions and Biosocial Bases of Sensation Seeking 1994 Research on sensation seeking in America and countries around the world continues at an unabated level of journal articles several hundred appearing since the 1994 book on the subject Handbook of Research Methods in Personality Psychology Richard W. Psychology is one of a set of three handbooks published by Routledge which includes The Handbook of Child and Adolescent Clinical Psychology by Alan Carr and The Handbook of Intellectual Disability and Clinical Psychology Practice Edited by Alan Carr Gary O Reilly Patricia Noonan Walsh and John McEvoy The Developing Structure of Temperament and Personality From Infancy To Adulthood Charles F. Halverson, Jr.,Gedolph A. Kohnstamm,Roy P. Martin,Charles F. Halverson,Geldolph A. Kohnstamm,2014-05-12 This book is the first to bring together researchers in individual differences in personality and temperament to explore whether there is any unity possible between the temperament researchers of infancy and childhood and the major researchers in adult personality Prior to the workshop which resulted in this volume the existing literature seemed to document a growing consensus on the part of the adult personality researchers that five major personality dimensions the Big Five might be sufficient to account for most of the important variances in adult individual differences in personality In contrast to this accord the literature on child and infant individual differences seemed to offer a wide variety of opinions regarding the basic dimensions of difference in personality or temperament The editors believed that they could encourage researchers from both the adult and child areas to consider the importance of a lifespan conceptualization of individual differences by discussing their research in terms of a continuity approach Written by some of the most distinguished scholars from Great Britain continental Western Europe and Eastern Europe as well as the United States and Canada the chapters present a cross cultural view of both adult personality and temperament in infancy and childhood By sharing their recent data techniques and theoretical speculations the chapter authors communicate the research enthusiasm engendered by the growing consensus of the adult Big Five as well as the exciting prospects of an integrative program of research from infancy to adulthood that will clarify and consolidate what is now a disparate set of methods theory and findings across the lifespan The editors suggest that this volume will have considerable heuristic value in stimulating researchers to conceptualize their work in developmental lifespan approaches that will lead to a consolidation of individual differences research at every age The Oxford Handbook of the Five Factor Model Thomas A. Widiger,2017 There is a vast body of research supporting the Five Factor Model as the predominant model of general personality structure within the field of social psychology The Oxford Handbook of the Five Factor Model is dedicated to this model of research
