©2011 EMMETT KUSCHAKOWSKI / LITTLE LEARNING CORNER

Daddy, Daddy, I love you.
Thank you for all that you do.
You are brave and strong,
And we laugh all night long.
You're the peanut to my butter,
And I wouldn't want another.
Daddy, I just want to say,
Happy Father's Day!

intriguing and long overdue biography A Father's Day Pete Mullineaux, 2008 Pete Mullineaux has taken the long way round before compiling this debut full collection arranged around themes relating to fathers and fatherhood in particular as well as male identity in general While the focus is primarily on the male several outspoken female voices are present The writing overall experiments with a variety of forms and reflects a quirky but challenging personal politics laced with a rich irony and humour Keen eyed and lyrical this superbly crafted exploration of the male identity is both rich and touching in its honesty and vulnerability We see the poet reflect on what it means to be a partner a father and a man who has lost a father Emotional and tender but also humorous witty and philosophical this is a brave collection from a wonderful poetic mind No hat no horse no Marlboro and yet behold the man Gerard Hanberry Simple luminous images Mullineaux's voice carries lilts of John Cooper Clarke There are poems here to make one smile frown think the comedian often gives way to a serious poet indeed A very fine book then and beautifully produced Fred Johnston Pete Mullineaux grew up in Bristol UK His poem Harvest Festival published aged 13 in Macmillan's anthology Poetry Song was subsequently recorded for schools by Harrap on the album Man His Senses Living in London in the alternative late 1970s and early 80s he worked in a left wing printing press and played in a punk rock band The Resisters recording an album in 1979 on Munich's Trikont records When the band split he went solo as singer songwriter Pete Zero with gigs ranging from two Glastonbury Festivals CND protests at Greenham Common and Brockwell Park to sharing the stage with such diverse luminaries as the early Pogues and Salman Rushdie His protest song Disposable Tissues in support of CND won the 1986 City of London Poetry Song contest and he also published a collection of songs under the same title Adapting to the emerging new comedy and performance poetry scenes he played host for alternative cabaret group New Variety in the Old White Horse in Brixton as well as performing with the London based Apples Snakes appearing in their first publication Raw Biting Cabaret Poetry 1985 Around this time he also achieved a first class honours in drama from Middlesex University wrote for the Paul Merton fronted Comedy Wavelength Channel 4 and a first stage play Wallflowers was produced on the London fringe Thoughts and Poetry on Paper Peter Knoester, 2025-04-28 For author Peter Knoester putting thoughts on paper isn't as easy as it sounds Not after ninety years and not after everything he's lived through Growing up during World War II and enduring the Hunger Winter the Dutch famine of 1944-1945 in the Nazi occupied Netherlands have greatly influenced Peter's outlook on life They shaped who he is as a person as did his time as a merchant marine and his career outside the navy Based on the author's religious upbringing and personal experiences Thoughts and Poetry on Paper is a collection of poems stories and personal musings on religion and life This book examines everyday life with curiosity and a keen eye From rhyming poems with playful turns of phrases to heartfelt stories about nature Peter's faith and passion for life and storytelling shine through While this collection embraces a religious perspective the themes and stories are universal Hope appreciation and a deep love for the world resonate beyond these pages Like many books Thoughts and Poetry on Paper started with the author's need to express himself To understand
