Gert Sibande Question Paper:

Annual Performance Plan Mpumalanga (South Africa). Department of Education, 2015 These Potatoes Look Like Humans Mbuso Nkosi, 2023-09 These Potatoes Look Like Humans offers a unique understanding of the intersection of land labour dispossession and violence experienced by Black South Africans from the apartheid period to the present Critiquing the narrow materialist and legalistic arguments about the land question uMbuso weNkosi recognises that for most Black South Africans the meaning of land cannot be separated from one's spiritual and ancestral connection to it Taking the historic 1959 potato boycott in South Africa as a starting point weNkosi turns an unflinching gaze on how past and present continue to inform the future He argues that the violence to which Black farmworkers have been subjected is more than brutal exploitation of cheap labour It stems from the anxiety white society feels about its oppression of the majority its claims to land ownership and its fears of the future The cycle of violence will persist until there is a recognition of the dead and restless spirits of the land and a spiritual return to home for Black people's ancestors uMbuso weNkosi offers a deeper understanding of the meaning of dispossession the struggle for land reform and the remedies for social justice in today's South Africa uMbuso weNkosi is a Lecturer in the Department of Sociology at the University of Pretoria

Student-Teacher Relationship Quality Research: Past, Present and Future Matteo Angelo Fabris, Karine Verschueren, Debora Roorda, Claudio Longobardi, 2022-11-24 Rethinking MSM, Trans* and other Categories in HIV Prevention Amaya G. Perez-Brumer, Richard Parker, Peter Aggleton, 2018-12-07 As the HIV epidemic moves into its fourth decade it is clear that the global response has failed to adequately address the needs of a wide range of vulnerable populations and groups Chief among these are gay bisexual and other men who have sex with men and transgender persons who globally face the disproportional burden of HIV infection This volume rethinks HIV prevention and health promotion for sexual and gender minorities in both the industrialised societies of the West as well as in the developing nations of the Global South The chapters it contains offer a critical analysis of past and present HIV research employing categories to designate gay and other men who have sex with men transgender persons and or other persons and communities with diverse gender and sexual identities Contributors question the politics of many of the existing classifications and categories in HIV research and argue for a more sophisticated analysis of gender and sexual diversity in order to tackle the social and political barriers that impede the design of successful HIV prevention and health promotion approaches This book was originally published as a special issue of Global Public Health Air Pollution XXIV J.W.S. Longhurst, C.A. Brebbia, J. Barnes, 2016-07-14 In these proceedings of the 24th International Conference on Modelling Monitoring and Management of Air Pollution international academics and air pollution practitioners contribute to the evolving understanding of the science and policy contexts of air pollution All the books from the conference series have discussed important air pollution issues at an international national and local level and by virtue of their truly international composition have brought to the discussion a unique suite of perspectives The conference findings enjoy a wide and rapid dissemination amongst the air pollution science and policy communities The management of air pollution is one of the most challenging problems facing the international community A particular strength of the series has been the attention given to regulatory and market solutions to air pollution management The Air Pollution series of conferences has consistently acknowledged that science remains the key to identifying the nature and scale of air pollution impacts and reaffirmed that science is essential in the formulation of policy relevant information for regulatory decision making The conference series also acknowledged at a very early stage that science alone will not improve a polluted atmosphere The scientific knowledge derived from well designed studies needs to be allied with further technical and economic studies in order to ensure cost effective and efficient mitigation In turn the science technology and economic outcomes are necessary but not sufficient Topics covered include Air pollution modelling Air pollution mitigation and management Aerosols and particles Emission studies Health effects Indoor air pollution Air data quality Monitoring and measuring Case studies Air pollution control technologies Industrial air pollution Air pollution science Global and regional studies Climate change effects GIS Emerging pollutants Socio economic issues Public engagement Policy and legislation

Social Demography of South Africa Clifford O. Odimegwu, John Kekovole, 2015-08-27 This edited collection investigates what progress has been made in the field of social demography in South Africa since the democratic dispensation in the country Contributors offer a compilation of in depth analytical studies of substantive technical and contemporary issues in the South African demographic landscape Accessible and topical it is a useful reference guide to those working in disciplines such as sociology geography statistics and economics and to all those trying to understand the role of national statistical agency in national development planning in Africa This book project is funded by Statistics South Africa Pretoria South Africa
