Archives in Russia: A Directory and Bibliographic Guide to Holdings in Moscow and St.Petersburg

Patricia Kennedy Grimsted, Patricia Kennedy Grimstead, 2016-04-01 This is a comprehensive directory and bibliographic guide to Russian archives and manuscript repositories in the capital cities of Moscow and St Petersburg. It is an essential resource for any researcher interested in Russian sources for topics in diplomatic military and church history, art, dance, film, literature, science, ethnography and geography. The first part lists general bibliographies of relevant reference literature, directories, bibliographic works and specialized subject-related sources. In the following sections of the directory, archival listings are grouped in institutional categories. Coverage includes federal ministerial, agency, presidential, local, university, Academy of Sciences, organizational, library and museum holdings. Individual entries include the name of the repository in Russian and English, basic information on location, staffing, institutional history, holdings, access and finding aids. More comprehensive and up to date than the 1997 Russian Version, this edition includes Web site information, dozens of additional repositories, several hundred more bibliographical entries, coverage of reorganization issues, four indexes and a glossary.

The No-nonsense Guide to Archives and Recordkeeping Margaret Crockett, 2015-11-23 This practical how to do it guide is ideal for professionals involved in the management of archives and records, especially if they are just starting out or without formal training. The book covers all aspects of recordkeeping and archives management. It follows the records journey from creation through the application of classification and access techniques, evaluation for business, legal and historical value and finally to destruction or preservation and access in the archive. Based on the internationally renowned training days run by the author and her business partner, The No-nonsense Guide to Archives and Recordkeeping deals with records and archives in all formats. It utilizes checklists, practical exercises, sample documentation, case studies and helpful diagrams to ensure a very accessible and pragmatic approach, allowing anyone to get to grips with the basics quickly. The book is divided into four main work areas: current records including creation, filing, classification and security; records management including aims, risks, planning, preparation and delivery; archives management including collecting policies, intellectual property rights, appraisal, digitization and outreach; archival preservation including policy, disaster prevention and repositories. This one-stop shop will be essential for a wide readership including archives and records assistants, librarians, information managers and IT professionals responsible for archives and records and managers of archives staff. World Guide to Library, Archive, and Information Science Associations Alexandra Meinhold, 2010 This handbook provides detailed information on associations concerned with the fields of librarianship, documentation, information science and archives. The Oxford Handbook of Public History, 2017-09-20 The Oxford Handbook of Public History introduces the major debates within public history, the methods and sources that comprise a public historian's tool kit and exemplary examples of practice. It views public history as a dynamic process combining historical research and a wide range of work with and for the public, informed by a conceptual context. The editors acknowledge the imprecision bedeviling attempts to define public history and use this book as an opportunity to shape the field by taking a deliberately broad view. They include professional historians who work outside the academy in a range of institutions and sites and those who are politically committed to communicating history to the wide range of audiences This volume provides the information and inspiration needed by a practitioner to succeed in the wide range of workplaces that characterizes public history today for university teachers of public history to assist their students and for working public historians to keep up to date with recent research This handbook locates public history as a professional practice within an intellectual framework that is increasingly transnational technological and democratic While the nation state remains the primary means of identification increased mobility and the digital revolution have occasioned a much broader outlook and awareness of the world beyond national borders It addresses squarely the tech savvy media literate citizens of the world the digital natives of the twenty first century in a way that recognizes the revolution in shared authority that has swept museum work oral history and much of public history practice This volume also provides both currently practicing historians and those entering the field a map for understanding the historical landscape of the future not just to the historiographical debates of the academy but also the boom in commemoration and history outside the academy evident in many countries since the 1990s which now constitutes the historical culture in each country Public historians need to understand both contexts and to negotiate their implications for questions of historical authority and the public historian's work The boom in popular history is characterized by a significant increase in both making and consuming history in a range of historical activities such as genealogy family history and popular collecting cultural tourism historic sites and memorial museums increased memorialization both formal and informal from roadside memorials to state funded shrines and memorial Internet sites increased publication of historical novels biographies and movies and TV series set in the past Much of this as well as a vast array of new community cultural projects has been facilitated by the digital technologies that have increased the accessibility of historical information the democratization of practice and the demand for sharing authority
