Yes... students will fail to retain what they learn in class

No... quality of education is not a function of national exams only

By Mwa Nkhosho

Commenting on the restructuring of the Malawi Secondary Certificate (MSCE) exams, the Ministry of Education has stated that the new system will ensure that students learn what they need to know for the future.

However, the restructuring of the exams has raised concerns among educators and the public. Some argue that the new system will lead to a loss of quality of education, as students will be forced to learn only what is required for the exams.

Others argue that the new system will lead to a more holistic education, as students will be required to learn a wider range of subjects.
