Male Physical Exam Stories:

The Advocate, 2003-04-01 The Advocate is a lesbian gay bisexual transgender LGBT monthly newsmagazine Established in 1967 it is the oldest continuing LGBT publication in the United States JFK and the Masculine Mystique Steven Watts, 2016-11-08 From very early on in his career John F Kennedy's allure was more akin to a movie star than a presidential candidate Why were Americans so attracted to Kennedy in the late 1950s and early 1960s his glamorous image good looks cool style tough minded rhetoric and sex appeal As Steve Watts argues JFK was tailor made for the cultural atmosphere of his time He benefited from a crisis of manhood that had welled up in postwar America when men had become ensnared by bureaucracy softened by suburban comfort and emasculated by a generation of newly aggressive women Kennedy appeared to revive the modern American man as youthful and vigorous masculine and athletic and a sexual conquistador His cultural crusade involved other prominent figures including Frank Sinatra Norman Mailer Ian Fleming Hugh Hefner Ben Bradlee Kirk Douglas and Tony Curtis who collectively symbolized masculine regeneration JFK and the Masculine Mystique is not just another standard biography of the youthful president By examining Kennedy in the context of certain books movies social critiques music and cultural discussions that framed his ascendancy Watts shows us the excitement and sense of possibility the optimism and aspirations that accompanied the dawn of a new age in America Patriot Hill; A Soldier's Story Elbert Hill, 2023-08-24 Patriot Hill is a story of patriotism and love for an individual's country The story seeks to explain why a young American boy joined the United States military It also tells of his faith in God and how God protected him It is a compelling story of faith courage and belief in the American way of life in-Training: Stories from Tomorrow's Physicians Ria Pal, Andrew Kadlec, 2018-10-30 Peer edited narratives written by medical students chronicling the major milestones of medical school Every Patient Tells a Story Lisa Sanders, 2010-09-21 A riveting exploration of the most difficult and important part of what doctors do by Yale School of Medicine physician Dr Lisa Sanders author of the monthly New York Times Magazine column Diagnosis the inspiration for the hit Fox TV series House M D The experience of being ill can be like waking up in a foreign country Life as you formerly knew it is on hold while you travel through this other world as unknown as it is unexpected When I see patients in the hospital or in my office who are suddenly surprisingly ill what they really want to know is What is wrong with me They want a road map that will help them manage their new surroundings The ability to give this unnerving and unfamiliar place a name to know it on some level restores a measure of control independent of whether or not that diagnosis comes attached to a cure Because even today a diagnosis is frequently all a good doctor has to offer A healthy young man suddenly loses his memory making him unable to remember the events of each passing hour Two patients diagnosed with Lyme disease improve after antibiotic treatment only to have their symptoms mysteriously return A young woman lies dying in the ICU bleeding jaundiced incoherent and none of her doctors know what is killing her In Every Patient Tells a Story Dr Lisa Sanders takes us bedside to witness the process of solving these and other diagnostic dilemmas providing a firsthand account of the expertise and intuition that lead a doctor to make the right diagnosis. Never in human history have doctors had the knowledge, the tools, and the skills that they have today to diagnose illness and disease. And yet mistakes are made, diagnoses missed, symptoms or tests misunderstood. In this high tech world of modern medicine, Sanders shows us that knowledge while essential is not sufficient to unravel the complexities of illness. She presents an unflinching look inside the detective story that marks nearly every illness, the diagnosis revealing the combination of uncertainty and intrigue that doctors face when confronting patients who are sick or dying. Through dramatic stories of patients with baffling symptoms, Sanders portrays the absolute necessity and surprising difficulties of getting the patient's story, the challenges of the physical exam, the pitfalls of doctor to doctor communication, the vagaries of tests, and the near calamity of diagnostic errors. In Every Patient Tells a Story, Dr. Sanders chronicles the real life drama of doctors solving these difficult medical mysteries that not only illustrate the art and science of diagnosis but often save the patient's lives.

Duty with Honour: the Story of a Young Canadian with Bomber Command in the Second World War Elizabeth A. Reynolds, 2010-09-13 The role of Bomber Command in World War II has been hotly debated over the years. Whatever one may think about the effectiveness and morality of the overall strategy, it is difficult to question the commitment of the individual airmen. Bomber Command suffered the greatest loss per capita of all the Allied forces, experiencing a 63 per cent casualty rate. At one point during the war, a navigator could expect to survive fewer than 12 bombing operations. Duty With Honour is the story of one young navigator who served in the Royal Canadian Air Force from 1940-1945. Flight Lieutenant Lindsay Reynolds completed a tour of operations in the Middle East and returned home in 1943 to instruct in the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan in Canada. This is the story of the impact of his experiences in a time of war on the life he lived when World War II was over. It is a story of one man's commitment to duty with honour.

The Fatherless Daughter Project Denna Babul RN, Karin Luise, 2016-06-07 This groundbreaking work will give voice to an enormous population of women who are struggling to understand themselves in the face of their father's absence. Claire Bidwell Smith, author of The Rules of Inheritance and After This When Motherless Daughters was published 20 years ago, it unleashed a tsunami of healing awareness. When Denna Babul and Karin Smithson couldn't find the equivalent book for fatherlessness, The Fatherless Daughter Project was born. The book will set fatherless women on the path to growth and fulfillment by helping them to understand how their loss has impacted their lives. A father is supposed to provide a sense of security and stability. Losing a father comes with particular costs that vary depending on the way he left and how old a girl was when she lost him. Drawing on interviews with over 5000 women who became fatherless due to death, divorce, neglect, and outright abandonment, the authors have found that fatherless daughters tend to push their emotions underground. These issues in turn become distinct patterns in their relationships as adult women, and they often can't figure out why. Delivered with compassion and expertise, this book allows readers support and understanding they never had when they first needed it and it encourages the conversation to continue Recreating Japanese Men Sabine Frühstück, Anne Walthall, 2011-10-04 The essays in this groundbreaking book explore the meanings of manhood in Japan from the seventeenth to the twenty first centuries Recreating Japanese Men examines a broad range of attitudes regarding properly masculine pursuits and modes of behavior It charts breakdowns in traditional and conventional societal roles and the resulting crises of masculinity Contributors address key questions about Japanese manhood ranging from icons such as the samurai to marginal men including hermaphrodites robots techno geeks rock climbers shop clerks soldiers shoguns and more In addition to bringing historical evidence to bear on definitions of masculinity contributors provide fresh analyses on the ways contemporary modes and styles of masculinity have affected Japanese men s sense of gender as authentic and stable How Sex Got Screwed Up: The Ghosts that Haunt Our Sexual Pleasure - Book One Jon Knowles, 2019-03-31 The ghosts that haunt our sexual pleasure were born in the Stone Age Sex and gender taboos were used by tribes to differentiate themselves from one another These taboos filtered into the lives of Bronze and Iron Age men and women who lived in city states and empires For the early Christians all sex play was turned into sin instilled with guilt and punished severely With the invention of sin came the construction of women as subordinate beings to men Despite the birth of romance in the late middle ages Renaissance churches held inquisitions to seek out and destroy sex sinners all of whom it saw as heretics The Age of Reason saw the demise of these inquisitions But it was doctors who would take over the roles of priests and ministers as sex became defined by discourses of crime degeneracy and sickness The middle of the 20th century saw these medical and religious teachings challenged for the first time as activists such as Alfred Kinsey and Margaret Sanger sought to carve out a place for sexual freedom in society However strong opposition to their beliefs and the growing exploitation of sex by the media at the close of the century would ultimately shape 21st century sexual ambivalence Volume I of this two part publication traces the history of sex from the Stone Age to the Enlightenment Interspersed with personal hauntings from his own life and the lives of friends and relatives Knowles reveals how historical discourses of sex continue to haunt us today This book is a page turner in simple and plain language about how sex got screwed up for millennia For Knowles if we know the history of sex we can get over it Cook - A Doctor's True Story Robert V. Snyders, M.D., 2021-07-28 Cook A Doctor s True Story By Robert V Snyders M D RETIRED CAHOKIA DOCTOR INVENTS MEDICAL DEVICES By Jason White Managing Editor The Cohokia Herald August 15 2001 Excerpted The heart is where Dr Robert V Snyders is most at home these days Snyders a physician in Cahokia for three decades until his retirement six years ago is working on a new generation of implanted cardiac assist devices His interest in the field began in 1988 when his mother in law died of late stage congestive heart failure a few months after being treated for the condition She was in her late 70s and otherwise healthy She should have lived a longer life he said And that got me started There ought to be something simple we can do that can give them a few more years Late stage heart failure affects about 500 000 Americans Another 50 000 to 100 000 suffer from acute heart failure which may occur after surgery or heart attacks More than a decade later Snyder s has developed three of what he calls implanted cardiac assist devices His initial forays into the field began with the fabrication of a pneumatic heart jacket The jacket wraps around the heart and pumps through an electrocardiogram timed gas driven system Later he modified the jacket design into a fluid driven device that reduces a heart s volume which helps restore heart functionality to victims of late stage heart failure an electrocardiogram timed gas driven system Later he modified the jacket design into a fluid driven device that reduces a heart s volume which helps restore heart functionality to victims of late stage heart failure Snyders worked at the St Louis University Medical School s Surgical Research Institute where he tested prototypes of the jacket on pigs Another early step involved building heart models based on animal and human cadavers I had to start from scratch he said The devices reduce the bleeding and infection risks posed by the current generation of cardiac assist devices Snyders said People who use these devices often require a heart transplant an operation that is performed only 2 500 times per year You try to get a heart transplant and that s a tough act to follow through to completion Snyders said In the last two years Snyders has built a device called a Funnel Valve to prevent blood from flowing the wrong way through the heart s four valves The valve would be delivered to the heart through blood vessels Its advantage is that a patient s heart would not have to be stopped Snyders paid for much of his early research out of his own pocket But in 1998 he licensed three of his patents to Cardio Technologies Inc of Pine Brook N J The company combined his inventions with those of Dr Mark Anstadt of Duke University to develop a pneumatic heart jacket that is now being tested at East Coast medical facilities A year later Snyders licensed the patent for Pine Brook N J The company combined his inventions with those of Dr Mark Anstadt of Duke University to develop a pneumatic heart jacket that is now being tested at East Coast medical facilities A year later Snyders licensed the patent for the fluid driven modification of the heart jacket Testing is one reason his research takes so much money For example he travels to Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center in New York to test his valve on a flow loop a machine that simulates the flow of blood through the heart because St Louis doesn t have a flow loop He said it will be three to five years before the Food and Drug Administration grants an investigational device exemption so that his inventions can be used on people When you start these things you never know what particular modifications might work best he said That s why it takes a number of years You don t hit it right away Continued inside on page 72
