Communications Infrastructure, Systems and Applications Rashid Mehmood, Eduardo Cerqueira, Radoslaw Piesiewicz, Imrich Chlamtac, 2009-12-12 The First International ICST Conference on Communications Infrastructure Systems and Applications in Europe EuropeComm 2009 was held August 11-13 2009 in London EuropeComm 2009 brought together decision makers from the EU communication top researchers and industry executives to discuss the directions of communications research and development in Europe The event also attracted academia and industry representatives as well as government officials to discuss the current developments and future trends in technology applications and services in the communications field Organizing this conference was motivated by the fact that the development and deployment of future services will require a common global scale infrastructure and therefore it is important that designers and stakeholders from all the systems stacks come together to discuss these developments Rapidly decreasing costs of computational power storage capacity and communication bandwidth have led to the development of a multitude of applications carrying an increasingly huge amount of traffic on the global networking infrastructure What we have seen is an evolution of an infrastructure looking for networked applications has evolved into an infrastructure struggling to meet the social technological and business challenges posed by the plethora of bandwidth hungry emerging applications

Wireless and Mobile Networking Jozef Wozniak, Jerzy Konorski, Ryszard Katulski, Andrzej R. Pach, 2009-08-31 Recent spectacular achievements in wireless mobile and sensor networks have dramatically changed our lives in many ways However the rapid evolution of wireless systems not only promises increased functionality reliability availability and security as well as putting a wide variety of new services at the users disposal it also creates a number of design challenges that our research community is now facing Scientists and engineers need to come up with and promptly implement novel wireless network architectures while system operators and planners rethink their business models and attend to the growing expectations of their customer base To provide a suitable forum for discussion between researchers practitioners and industry representatives interested in new developments in the respective research area IFIP WG 6.8 launched three separate series of conferences MWCN Mobile and Wireless Communications Networks PWC Personal Wireless Communications and WSAW Wireless Sensor and Actors Networks In 2008 MWCN and PWC were merged into the IFIP Wireless and Mobile Networking Conference WMNC 2008 held in Toulouse France from September 30 to October 2 2008 WMNC 2008 and PWC 2008 topics were subsequently revised with a view to covering the whole spectrum of hot issues in wireless and mobile networking As a result IFIP WG 6.8 decided to add WSAW as another WMNC track

Computational Collective Intelligence. Semantic Web, Social Networks and Multiagent Systems Ryszard Kowalczyk, 2009-09-23 Computational collective intelligence CCI is most often understood as a subfield of artificial intelligence AI dealing with soft computing methods that enable group decisions to be made or knowledge to be processed among autonomous units acting in distributed environments The needs for CCI techniques and tools have grown significantly recently as many information systems work in distributed environments and use distributed resources Web based systems social networks and multi agent systems very often need these tools for working out consistent knowledge states resolving conflicts and making decisions Therefore CCI is of great importance for today's and future distributed systems Methodological theoretical and practical aspects of computational collective intelligence such as group decision making collective action coordination and knowledge integration are considered as the form of intelligence that emerges from the collaboration and competition of many individuals artificial and or natural The application of multiple computational intelligence technologies such as fuzzy systems evolutionary computation neural systems consensus theory etc can support human and other collective intelligence and create new forms of CCI in natural and or artificial systems

Mobile Lightweight Wireless Systems Fabrizio Granelli, Charalabos Skianis, Yang Xiao, Simone Redana, 2009-08-10 The First International Conference on Mobile Lightweight Systems MOBILIGHT was held in Athens during May 18-20 2009 The decision to organize a scientific event on wireless communications where competition is really enormous was motivated by discussions with some colleagues about the current unprecedented request for lightweight wireless communication devices with high usability and performance able to support added value services in a highly mobile environment Such devices follow the user everywhere he/she goes at work at home while travelling in a classroom etc but also result in exciting search development and business opportunities Such a scenario clearly demands significant upgrades to the existing communication paradigm in terms of infrastructure devices and services to support the anytime anywhere any device philosophy introducing novel and fast evolving requirements and expectations on research and development in the field of information and communication technologies The core issue is to support the desire of wireless users to have 24/7 network availability and transparent access to their own services
