Marine Mammal Health and Stranding Response Program, 2009      Mammal activity signs: Atlas, identification keys and research methods Vadim Sidorovich, Nikolaj Vorobej, 2013-09-01      Mammals of Ungava and Labrador Scott A. Heyes, Kristofer M. Helgen, 2014-02-25 In 1882 the Smithsonian Institution Arctic scientist Lucien McShan Turner traveled to the Ungava District that encompasses Northern Quebec and Labrador There he spent 20 months as part of a mission to record meteorological data for an International Polar Year research program While stationed at the Hudson s Bay Company Trading Post of Fort Chimo in Ungava Bay now the Inuit community of Kuujuaq he soon tired of his primary task and expanded his duties to a study of the natural history and ethnography of the Aboriginal peoples of the region His ethnography of the Inuit and Innu people was published in 1894 but his substantial writings on natural history never made it to print Presented here for the first time is the natural history material that Lucien M Turner wrote on mammals of the Ungava and Labrador regions His writings provide a glimpse of the habits and types of mammals that roamed Ungava 125 years ago in what was an unknown frontier to non Inuit and non Innu people      Annual Report of the Marine Mammal Commission United States. Marine Mammal Commission, 2007      Management of Amphibians, Reptiles, and Small Mammals in North America Robert C. Szaro, Kieth E. Severson, David R. Patton, 1988 Historically the management of public lands from a multiple use perspective has led to a system that emphasizes those habitat components or faunal elements that primarily resulted in some sort of definable economic value While this often benefitted other species that were not even considered in the original prescriptions it also negatively impacted others We no longer can afford to take this simplistic view of ecosystem management We need to use a more holistic approach where ecological landscapes are considered as units and land management practices incorporate all elements into an integrated policy This includes examining the impacts of proposed land uses on amphibian reptile and small mammal populations      A Field Guide to the Mammals of Central America and Southeast Mexico Fiona A. Reid, 2009-06-09 This is the only field guide to provide comprehensive coverage of the mammals of Central America and southeast Mexico The fully revised second edition includes 21 new species as well as updated illustrations and distribution maps Each species account provides measurements descriptions and comparisons with similar species and is accompanied by a range map showing where the species can be found in the region The 49 full color animal plates contain similar species portrayed to scale on the same plate with tracks and feet shown on the facing page 4 new full color maps provide visual views of parks and protected areas biomes elevations and habitat loss as well as a political map of the region The book also features a detailed introduction with sections on how and where to find mammals and a listing of the most endangered species in the region      The Wildlife Techniques Manual Nova J. Silvy, 2012-03 A standard text in a variety of courses the Techniques Manual as it is commonly called covers every aspect of modern wildlife management and provides practical information for applying the hundreds of methods described in its pages To effectively incorporate the explosion of new information in the wildlife profession this latest edition is logically organized into a two volume set Volume 1 is devoted to research techniques and Volume 2 focuses on management methodologies Small Mammals Susan A. Brown, Karen L. Rosenthal, 1997-04-01 Veterinary practitioners are faced regularly by diseases and disorders in a large and ever increasing range of small mammalian patients The Editors have gathered together contributions from 29 experts who cover all aspects of medicine and surgery in small mammals including rabbits guinea pigs rodents hedgehogs ferrets primates squirrels fo Mammalogy George A. Feldhamer, Lee C. Drickamer, Stephen H. Vessey, Joseph F. Merritt, Carey Krajewski, 2015-01-01 Reflecting the expertise and perspective of five leading mammalogists the fourth edition of Mammalogy Adaptation Diversity Ecology significantly updates taxonomy includes a new chapter on mammalian molecular phylogenetics and highlights several recently described species There are close to 5 500 species in the class Mammalia including the blue whale the largest animal that has ever lived and the pygmy shrew which weighs little more than a penny The functional diversity of mammals has allowed them to play critical roles in every ecosystem whether marine freshwater alpine tundra forest or desert Many mammal species are critically endangered and present complex conservation and management challenges This book touches on those challenges which are often precipitated by overharvesting and habitat loss as well as emerging threats such as the impact of wind turbines and white nose syndrome on bats and chronic wasting disease on deer Among the updates and additions to the fourth edition of Mammalogy are numerous new photos figures and cladograms over 4 200 references as well as A completely new chapter on mammalian phylogeny and genomics Current taxonomy including major changes to orders suborders and superfamilies of bats and rodents An explanation of the recent inclusion of whales with terrestrial even toed ungulates Updates on mammalian structural functional adaptations and fossil history recent advances in our understanding of phylogeny biogeography social behavior and ecology A discussion of two new orders and thirteen newly recognized extant families Reflections on the implications of climate change for mammals Thorough examinations of several recently described species including Durrell's vontsira Salanoia durrelli and the Laotian rock rat Laonastes aenigmamus An explanation of mammalian biomechanics such as that seen in lunge feeding of baleen whales Breakout boxes on unique aspects of mammals including the syntax of bat songs singing mice and why there are no green mammals unless we count algae covered sloths Maintaining the accessible readable style for which Feldhamer and his coauthors are well known this new edition of Mammalogy is the authoritative textbook on this amazingly diverse class of vertebrates Bowker's Complete Video Directory 2001 , 2001 Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications , 1982 Mammals of Africa: Volume I Jonathan Kingdon, 2014-11-20 Mammals of Africa MoA is a series of six volumes which describes in detail every currently recognized species of African land mammal This is the first time that such extensive coverage has ever been attempted and the volumes incorporate the very latest information and detailed discussion of the morphology distribution biology and evolution including reference to fossil and molecular data of Africa's mammals. With more than 1 160 species and 16 18 orders, Africa has the greatest diversity and abundance of mammals in the world. The reasons for this and the mechanisms behind their evolution are given special attention in the series. Each volume follows the same format with detailed profiles of every species and higher taxa. The series includes hundreds of colour illustrations and pencil drawings by Jonathan Kingdon highlighting the morphology and behaviour of the species concerned as well as line drawings of skulls and jaws by Jonathan Kingdon and Meredith Happold. Every species also includes a detailed distribution map. Edited by Jonathan Kingdon, David Happold, Tom Butynski, Mike Hoffmann, Meredith Happold and Jan Kalina and written by more than 350 authors, all experts in their fields, Mammals of Africa is as comprehensive a compendium of current knowledge as is possible. Extensive references alert readers to more detailed information. This first volume in the series comprises eight introductory chapters covering topics such as evolution, geography and geology, biotic zones, classification, behaviour and morphology. The rest of the book is devoted to the Afrotheria, a grouping that comprises six orders and 49 species: these are the hyraxes, elephants, manatees, otter shrews, golden moles, sengis, elephant shrews and Aardvark.

Mammal Tracks & Sign Mark Elbroch, 2003-08-01. Detailed track and trail data for 135 species with actual size track illustrations.

Wild Mammals in Captivity Devra G. Kleiman, Katerina V. Thompson, Charlotte Kirk Baer, 2010-08-15. Zoos, aquaria and wildlife parks are vital centers of animal conservation and management. For nearly fifteen years, these institutions have relied on Wild Mammals in Captivity as the essential reference for their work. Now the book reemerges in a completely updated second edition. Wild Mammals in Captivity presents the most current thinking and practice in the care and management of wild mammals in zoos and other institutions. In one comprehensive volume, the editors have gathered the most current information from studies of animal behavior, advances in captive breeding, research in physiology, genetics and nutrition, and new thinking in animal management and welfare. In this edition, more than three quarters of the text is new, and information from more than seventy-five contributors is thoroughly updated. The standard text for all courses in zoo biology, Wild Mammals in Captivity will, in its new incarnation, continue to be used by zoo managers, animal caretakers, researchers, and anyone with an interest in how to manage animals in captive conditions.

Duetting and Turn-Taking Patterns of Singing Mammals: From Genes to Vocal Plasticity, and Beyond Patrice Adret, Dena Jane Clink, Charles T. Snowdon, Sofya Dolotovskaya, 2023-10-23. Mammalian vocal duets and turn-taking exchanges, long coordinated acoustic signals exchanged between two individuals, are primarily found in family living, pair-bonded mammals with a socially monogamous lifestyle: some rodents, some lemurs, tarsiers, titi monkeys, a Mentawai langur, gibbons, and siamangs. Duetting and turn-taking patterns combine visual, chemical, tactile, and auditory cues to produce some of the most exuberant displays in the realm of animal communication. How and why such phenotypes evolved independently across main lineages are fundamental questions at the core of the nature-nurture debate. Duetting styles, ranging from antiphonal, non-overlapping to simultaneous, overlapping emissions, have now been documented in various taxa, some of which are quite reminiscent of turn taking rules in human conversation Nonetheless much remains to be learned about this complex motor skill and at all four levels of analysis namely 1 developmental processes 2 causal mechanisms 3 functional properties and 4 evolutionary history Given the strong link between this form of coordinated singing and pair bonding gaining a deeper understanding of this kind of cooperative behavior will likely shed more light on the deep evolutionary roots of human culture language and music

Social Construction of the Past George C. Bond, Angela Gilliam, 2020-04-23 First published in 1994 Anthropological and archaeological enquiry are shaped by the historical times in which they are formulated This collection of essays examines how mainstream scholarship constructs the past in the case of anthropologists usually the past of other peoples By creating another people's cultural history scholars appropriate it and turn it into a form of domination by one group over another Mainstream scholarship has often failed to recognize the intellectual and scholarly contribution of subjugated peoples This volume looks at the way postcolonial scholars are redefining the nature of scholarship and themselves in order to develop a more egalitarian discourse Social Constructions of the Past examines labour race and gender and its relationship to power and class It includes essays on a broad range of topics from the role of intellectuals in restructuring a non apartheid South Africa to Haitian working class women using sexuality to resist domination

Miscellaneous Publication, 1946 Marine Mammal Protection Legislation United States. Congress. Senate. National Ocean Policy Study, 1993 Transforming Conservation William J. Sutherland, 2022-12-07 There are severe problems with the decision making processes currently widely used leading to ineffective use of evidence faulty decisions wasting of resources and the erosion of public and political support In this book an international team of experts provide solutions The transformation suggested includes rethinking how evidence is assessed combined communicated and used in decision making using effective methods when asking experts to make judgements i e avoiding just asking an expert or a group of experts using a structured process for making decisions that incorporate the evidence and having effective processes for learning from actions In each case the specific problem with decision making is described with a range of practical solutions Adopting this approach to decision making requires societal change so detailed suggestions are made for transforming organisations governments businesses funders and philanthropists The practical suggestions include twelve downloadable checklists The vision of the authors is to transform conservation so it is more effective more cost efficient learns from practice and is more attractive to funders However the lessons of this important book go well beyond conservation to decision makers in any field

Mammal Community Dynamics Cynthia J. Zabel, Robert G. Anthony, 2003-09-18 Conservation of mammals in the coniferous forests of western North America has shifted in recent years from species based strategies to community and ecosystem based strategies resulting in an increase in the available information on mammalian communities and their management This book provides a synthesis of the published literature on the role of forest mammals in community structure and function with emphasis on their management and conservation In addition to coverage of some of the charismatic megafauna such as grizzly bears gray wolves mountain lions elk and moose the book also provides a thorough treatment of small terrestrial mammals arboreal rodents bats medium sized carnivores and ungulates The unique blend of theoretical and practical concepts makes this book equally suitable for managers educators and research biologists who will find it a valuable reference to the recent literature on a vast array of topics on mammalian ecology
