FIDIC Contracts in Africa and the Middle East Donald Charrett,2023-09-20 FIDIC contracts are the most widely used contracts for international construction around the world and are used in many different jurisdictions both common law and civil law For any construction project the General Conditions of Contract published by FIDIC need to be supplemented by Particular Conditions that specify the specific requirements of that project FIDIC Contracts in Africa and the Middle East A Practical Guide to Application provides readers with detailed guidance and resources for the preparation of the Particular Conditions that will comply with the requirements of the laws that apply to the site where the work is carried out and for the governing law of the contract for a number of the jurisdictions in which FIDIC contracts are or can be used This book closely follows the format of The International Application of FIDIC Contracts Each jurisdiction features an outline of its construction industry and information on the impact of COVID 19 on both the execution and operation of construction contracts This book is essential reading for construction professionals lawyers and students of construction law

Farm Incomes, Wealth and Agricultural Policy Berkeley Hill,2012 The Common Agricultural Policy CAP has been supporting the incomes of the European Union s agricultural community for half a century Despite this there is still no official system in place to track the economic wellbeing of farmers and their families This book examines the evidence on the overall wealth of farming households and concludes that in nearly all member states they are not generally a poor sector of society with disposable incomes that are similar to or exceed the national average In this updated edition the author discusses the latest evidence makes recommendations for gathering better information and considers the implications for the CAP as we enter the second decade of the 21st century

The Emergence of Standard English John H. Fisher,2014-07-11 Language scholars have traditionally agreed that the development of the English language was largely unplanned John H Fisher challenges this view demonstrating that the standardization of writing and pronunciation was and still is made under the control of political and intellectual forces In these essays Fisher chronicles his gradual realization that Standard English was not a popular evolution at all but was the direct result of political decisions made by the Lancastrian administrations of Henry IV and Henry V To achieve standardization and acceptance of the vernacular these kings turned to their Chancery scribes who were responsible for writing and copying legal and royal documents Chaucer a relative of the king began to be labeled by the government as a master of the language and it was Henry V who inspired the fifteenth century tradition of citing Chaucer as the maker of English An even more important link between language development and government practice is the fact that Chaucer himself composed in the English of the Chancery scribes Fisher discusses the development of Chancery practices royal involvement in promoting use of the vernacular Chaucer's use of English Caxton's use of Chancery Standard and the nineteenth century phenomenon of a standard or received pronunciation of English This engaging and clearly written work will change the way scholars understand the development of English and think about the intentional shaping of our language

Brain Networks in Aging: Reorganization and Modulation by Interventions Junfeng Sun, Chunbo Li, 2018-02-22 Old adults undertake multiple reduced cognitive abilities in aging which are accompanied with specific brain reorganization in forms of regional brain activity and brain tissues inter region connectivity and topology of whole brain networks in both function and structure The plasticity changes of brain activities in old adults are explained by the mechanisms of compensation and dedifferentiation For example older adults have been observed to have greater usually bilateral prefrontal activities during memory tasks compared to the typical unilateral prefrontal activities in younger adults which was explained as a compensation for the reduced brain activities in visual processing cortices Dedifferentiation is another mechanism to explain that old adults are with much less selective and less distinct activity in task relevant brain regions compared with younger adults A larger number of studies have examined the plasticity changes of brain from the perspective of regional brain activities However studies on only regional brain activities cannot fully elucidate the neural mechanisms of reduced cognitive abilities in aging as multiple regions are integrated together to achieve advanced cognitive function in human brain In recent years brain connectivity network which targets how brain regions are integrated have drawn increasing attention in neuroscience with the development of neuroimaging techniques and graph theoretical analysis Connectivity quantifies functional association or neural fibers between two regions that may be spatially far separated and graph theoretical analysis of brain network examines the complex interactions among multiple regions from the perspective of topology Studies showed that compared to younger adults older adults had altered strength of task relevant functional connectivity between specific brain regions in cognitive tasks and the alternation of connectivity are correlated to behavior performance For example older adults had weaker functional connectivity between the premotor cortex and a region in the left dorsolateral prefrontal cortex in a working memory task Interventions like cognitive training and neuro modulation e.g transcranial magnetic stimulation have been shown to be promising in regaining or retaining the decreasing cognitive abilities in aging However only few neuroimaging studies have examined the influence of interventions to old adult's brain activity connectivity and cognitive performance This Research Topic calls for contributions on brain network of subjects in normal aging or with age related diseases like mild cognitive impairment and Alzheimer's disease. The studies are expected to be based on neuroimaging techniques including but not limited to functional magnetic resonance imaging, Electroencephalography and diffusion tensor imaging and contributions on the influence of interventions to brain networks in aging are highly encouraged. All these studies would enrich our understanding of neural mechanisms underlying aging and offer new insights for developing possible interventions to retain cognitive abilities in aging subjects.

This volume also includes a research bibliography on international organizations and transnational associations.

Boreas rising Bernd Roling, Bernhard Schirg, 2019-07-08. For a long time studies on northern antiquarianism have focused on individual nations This volume introduces this phenomenon in a transnational perspective In the course of the 17th and 18th centuries the Baltic Sea was at the centre of a culture of debate whose networks encompassed numerous European centres of learning When the countries around the Baltic began to explore their own antiquities in this period the prevailing climate of competition between Sweden Denmark Russia and the German countries soon permeated the construction and presentation of their own pasts Exploring the ancient literatures and monuments of Iceland Sweden or Denmark studying runic writings or the Sami tradition the northern scholars were establishing an individual architecture of history and so extending the horizon of their emerging nations both geographically and historically The contributions in this volume provide case studies illustrating the role that scholarship art and literature played in establishing and maintaining national claims around the Baltic Sea The variety of methods combined for this purpose makes this book of interest to intellectual historians as well as historians of art and early modern science The Collected Works of Jules Verne in English Jules
