Leigh,2014-04-24 The string of military defeats during 1942 marked the end of British hegemony in Southeast Asia finally destroying the myth of British imperial invincibility The Japanese attack on Burma led to a hurried and often poorly organized evacuation of Indian and European civilians from the country The evacuation was a public humiliation for the British and marked the end of their role in Burma The Evacuation of Civilians from Burma investigates the social and political background to the evacuation and the consequences of its failure Utilizing unpublished letters diaries memoirs and official reports Michael Leigh provides the first comprehensive

Rusby, 2008-03 This study investigates possible links between temporary separation from parents in childhood due to evacuation in World War 2 and later psychological development and adult relationships The conclusions from an earlier qualitative pilot study had suggested that the developmental outcome of evacuation was perceived by those involved as lying on a continuum at one extreme the experience was life enhancing and at the other it had left an emotional legacy depending on an individual's experience This present lifespan survey using self report questionnaires and involving 900 respondents from the county of Kent confirmed these perceptions and examined whether they were reflected by measures of mental health marital history and adult attachment The methodology employed univariate and multivariate analyses including causal structural models of depression for both sexes and involved both childhood and life course mediating variables In terms of mental health highly significant associations were found for the evacuation experience variables of Age at Evacuation and Care Received with the Incidence of Depression Clinical Anxiety and Factor 2 Self criticism of the Depressive Experiences Questionnaire Blatt et al 1976 all in the predicted sense Females were found to be particularly vulnerable to Clinical Anxiety if evacuated at 10-12 years with an incidence of 18% accompanied by a high level of Self criticism Structural path models for the onset of depression confirmed that females not only had higher levels of Factor 1 Dependency but were more vulnerable to these levels Divorce rates were also highly associated with these same evacuation variables and multiple divorce rates for both sexes fell from 10% if evacuated at 4-6 years to 0% for those evacuated at 13-15 years Adult attachment style measured by the self report

Relationship Questionnaire Bartholomew Horowitz 1991 was also affected with a fall in the Fearful style from 25% to 7% with increasing age at evacuation Overall there was a tendency for male respondents to move to the Dismissive and females to the Fearful styles when secure attachment was lost It is believed that such a lifespan development study based on an experiment in nature and involving an ageing cohort has potential value in influencing future policy in the fields of mental health and social care      Celebration of the Centennial Anniversary of the Evacuation of Boston by the British Army, March 17th, 1776 Anonymous, 2025-08-07 Reprint of the original first published in 1876 The Antigonos publishing house specialises in the publication of reprints of historical books We make sure that these works are made available to the public in good condition in order to preserve their cultural heritage
