It covers media management, crisis management, the use of logos and other aspects of corporate identity and argues the case for reputation management as a way of overseeing long term organizational strategy. It presents a new approach to managing reputation, one that relies on surveying customers and employees on their view of the corporate character and in harmonizing the values of both. This approach has been trialled in a number of organizations and here the authors demonstrate how improving reputation merely by learning more about what a company is already doing is worth some five per cent sales growth The book is a vital up to date resource for specialists in corporate communication public relations marketing HRM and business strategy as well as for all senior management Highly illustrated with over eighty diagrams and tables it includes up to the minute illustrative case studies and interviews with leading authorities in the field

Reducing Carbon Emissions from Transport Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environmental Audit Committee, 2006-08-07 The Committee's report examines the challenges involved in efforts to reduce carbon emissions from the UK transport sector and makes recommendations to improve future progress as part of its overall priority for the current Parliament of focusing on climate change issues Topics discussed include the Government's strategic priorities measures to reduce carbon emissions from road transport trains water freight and aviation emissions from developing economies the future price and availability of oil The report finds that reducing carbon emissions from transport is particularly challenging given its dependence on oil with transport being the only sector of the UK economy in which carbon emissions were higher in 2004 than the baseline year of 1990 and projected emissions likely to be higher in 2020 than in 1990 Amongst the report s 66 conclusions and recommendations the Committee raises concerns over the lack of consistency and accuracy in methods used by the Government to calculate emissions projections and highlights the need for more decisive action to actively encourage modal shift towards lower carbon modes of transport such as trains buses and low carbon cars and lorries and to discourage marginal car and plane journeys It recommends the introduction of a national road user charging scheme as soon as technically possible and a new policy to enforce speed limits and an increase in air passenger duty APD and taxes on domestic flights The report also calls for better local rail services and the need to make rail fare and ticketing structures simpler and more transparent in order to encourage greater use of rail services and the need for a public information campaign to raise awareness about the reality and dangers of climate change and a cross party approach to the measures required to tackle it Globalization or Regionalization of the American and Asian Car Industry?

M. Freyssenet,K. Shimizu,G. Volpato,2003-04-15 The automobile sector is one of the most archetypal global industries and is seen by many as one of the main drivers behind the homogenisation of world markets due to firms internationalization strategies and the social practices that firms impose This book argues that this is not entirely the case due to the heterogeneity of firms and the diversity of strategies pursued It highlights the diversity and forms of internationalization and the preference for regionalization rather than globalization that has occurred over the past decade This book looks specifically at the American and Asian car industry China Mark Norcliffe,2006 Researched and written by the Head of the International Department of the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders this in depth report analyses the trends and prospects for the automotive industry in China It provides an authoritative market overview and analysis of market data trends economic climate government policy geographical factors It then looks in detail at the Passenger Car Sector the Commercial Vehicle Sector and the Components Sector in each case providing analysis of key players their operations market share strategies likely future successes and failures Finally the report assesses China s automotive industry from a comparative global perspective Lightweight Polymer Composite Structures Sanjay Mavinkere
