Congress, 1994 Public Los Angeles Donald Craig Parson, 2019 Public Los Angeles is a collection of unpublished essays by scholar Don Parson focusing on little known characters and histories located in the first half of twentieth century Los Angeles An infamously private city in the eyes of outside observers structured around single family homes and an aggressively competitive regional economy Los Angeles has often been celebrated or caricatured as the epitome of an American society bent on individualism entrepreneurialism and market ingenuity But Don Parson presents a different vision for the vast Southern California metropolis one that is deftly illustrated by stories of sustained struggles for social and economic justice led by activists social workers architects housing officials and a courageous judge Public Los Angeles presents insights into LA s historic collectivism networks of solidarity and government policy A follow up to Parson s seminal Making a Better World Public Housing the Red Scare and the Direction of Modern Los Angeles 2005 this volume helps shape our understanding of public housing gender and housework judicial activism and race and class in modernday Los Angeles and asks us if history is repeating Parson s work anchors a collection of nine essays by friends and mentors who deepen the discussion of his themes Dana Cuff Mike Davis Steven Flusty Greg Goldin Jacqueline Leavitt Laura Pulido Sue Ruddick Tom Sitton Edward W Soja and Jennifer Wolch The book is richly illustrated Biographical and curatorial essays by the book s editors Roger Keil and Judy Branfman provide background material and a coherent storyline for a mosaic of fresh Los Angeles research Socialisms: Old and New Tony Wright, 2006-06-19 Endorsement and Foreword by Tony Blair will greatly assist the publicity for this book The academic turned MP author has a good track record and is a rising Blairite star in New Labour Citizens and Subjects received excellent reviews Clear and concise introduction to socialism First edition published by Oxford was very well received Other books on individual ideologies have done very well The Nature of Fascism and Green Political Thought

China and the Geopolitics of Rare Earths Sophia Kalantzakos, 2018 Rare earths are elements that are found in the Earth s crust and are vital ingredients for the production of a wide variety of high tech defense and green technologies everything from iPhones and medical technologies to wind turbines efficiency lighting smart bombs and submarines While they are not particularly rare in availability they are difficult and expensive to mine Yet China has managed to gain control over an estimated 97 percent of the rare earth industry since the 1990s through cheap production high export taxes and artificial limitations of supply Rare earths and China s monopoly over them became international news after China unofficially curtailed exports to Japan the United States and Europe in 2010 This embargo followed a collision between Chinese and Japanese boats in the East China Sea a locus of geopolitical and economic tension between the two countries Although the World Trade Organization forced China to scrap its restrictions it still holds a stranglehold over these elements that are so critical to the economic and security interests of the United States and its allies In this book Sophia Kalantzakos argues that the 2010 rare earth crisis signaled more than just a trade dispute Rather it raises questions about China s use of economic statecraft and must be regarded as a part of the larger discourse of global power relations Importantly she also argues that the failure of political actors in major industrial nations to enact comprehensive and effective policy solutions or the scientific and business communities to devise sustainable rare earth production outside of China points to future resource competition Focusing on China s monopoly over the rare earth industry China and the Geopolitics of Rare Earths examines the impacts of growing worldwide resource competition and the complexities policymakers face as they develop strategies and responses in an increasingly globalized world Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine ,1968
