That Men Would Praise the Lord Allan Tulchin,2010-07-13 That Men Would Praise the Lord breaks apart the process of mass conversion in the sixteenth century to explain why the Reformation occurred using N mes the most Protestant town in France as a case study Protestantism was overwhelmingly successful in N mes since most people converted but the process culminated in two bloody massacres of N mes s remaining Catholics Beginning in 1559 N mes went through a revolutionary period comparable to 1789 in its intensity Townspeople flocked to hear Protestant preachers and then took over Catholic churches destroyed statues and stained glass and zealously took part in the Wars of Religion which convulsed France beginning in 1562 As the Protestant movement grew it had to adapt to changing circumstances N mes s first Protestants were attracted to Calvin s theology Later converts believed that the Church needed to be cleansed of its excesses to encourage moral reform and to assist the royal treasury Iin the end many converted because of peer pressure or under duress Thus rather than argue that one factor whether religious economic or political explains the Reformation Tulchin emphasizes that the Protestant movement was the result of compromises forged among its members The conclusion extends his arguments to the rest of France That Men Would Praise the Lord marries techniques from the social sciences anthropology and cultural history in an analytic narrative resulting in a new interdisciplinary theory of the Reformation

Mansfeld's Encyclopedia of Agricultural and Horticultural Crops R. Büttner,2001-04-10 With contributions by numerous experts Bibliographie D'histoire de L'art ,1998 The Library of Charles W. Clark Charles Walker Clark,1916 In Synchrony with the Heavens, Volume 1 Call of the Muezzin David King,2004-02-01 This is the first investigation of one of the main interests of astronomy in Islamic civilization namely timekeeping by the sun and stars and the regulation of the astronomically defined times of Muslim prayer The study is based on over 500 medieval astronomical manuscripts first identified by the author now preserved in libraries all over the world and originally from the entire Islamic world from the Maghrib to Central Asia and the Yemen The materials presented provide new insights into the early development of the prayer ritual in Islam They also call into question the popular notion that religion could not inspire serious scientific activity Only one of the hundreds of astronomical tables discussed here was known in medieval Europe which is one reason why the entire corpus has remained unknown until the present A second volume also to be published by Brill deals with astronomical instruments for timekeeping and other computing devices
