

Vietcong military tactics.

- Guerrilla warfare

Guerrilla warfare is the art of using knowledge of the landscape to avoid open battle with the enemy and to launch raids and surprise attacks, before disappearing back into the undergrowth. The Vietcong had experience of doing this while fighting the Japanese and the French after World War Two - they were very familiar with the terrain and the climate. They used the Ho Chi Minh Trail, which stretched from North Vietnam to the South, to keep their forces supplied.

- Support from peasants

The Vietcong won the 'hearts and minds' of the South Vietnamese peasants. They would offer to help them in their daily work and also promised them land, more wealth and freedom under Ho Chi Minh and the communists. It was difficult for American troops to know who was a Vietcong and who was not.

- Ho Chi Minh Trail:

Ho Chi Minh Trail: Vietcong guerrillas were kept well supplied by a constant stream of weapons from the North. These were carried on foot, by bicycle and mule along the Ho Chi Minh Trail - a jungle trail which wound through the neighbouring countries of Laos and Cambodia and which was bombed by the US Army but never fully disrupted.

The Vietcong had a hidden system of tunnels stretching over 200 miles. There were hospitals, armouries, sleeping quarters, kitchens and wells underground. These tunnel systems could hide thousands of Vietcong which helped them fight their guerrilla war. It would be the job of US 'tunnel rats' to search these tunnels. However, they were often booby-trapped with spikes and grenades.

Chemistry Education and Contributions from History and Philosophy of Science Mansoor Niaz, 2015-12-23 This book explores the relationship between the content of chemistry education and the history and philosophy of science HPS framework that underlies such education It discusses the need to present an image that reflects how chemistry developed and progresses It proposes that chemistry should be taught the way it is practiced by chemists as a human enterprise at the interface of scientific practice and HPS Finally it sets out to convince teachers to go beyond the traditional classroom practice and explore new teaching strategies The importance of HPS has been recognized for the science curriculum since the middle of the 20th century The need for teaching chemistry within a historical context is not difficult to understand as HPS is not far below the surface in any science classroom A review of the literature shows that the traditional chemistry classroom curricula and textbooks while dealing with concepts such as law theory model explanation hypothesis observation evidence and idealization generally ignore elements of the history and philosophy of science This book proposes that the conceptual understanding of chemistry requires knowledge and understanding of the history and philosophy of science Professor Niaz s book is most welcome coming at a time when there is an urgently felt need to upgrade the teaching of science The book is a huge aid for adding to the usual way presenting science as a series of mere facts also the necessary mandate to show how science is done and how science through its history and philosophy is part of the cultural development of humanity Gerald Holton Mallinckrodt Professor of Physics these are valence bond VB and molecular orbital MO theories He emphasizes the importance of having rival theories and interpretations in science and its advancement He further argues that this VB MO rivalry is still alive and together the two conceptual frames serve as the tool kit for thinking and doing chemistry in creative manners The author surveys chemistry textbooks in the light of the how the books preserve or not the balance between the two theories in describing various chemical phenomena This Talmudic approach of conceptual tension is a universal characteristic of any branch of evolving wisdom As such Mansoor s book would be of great utility for chemistry teachers to examine how can they become more effective teachers by recognizing the importance of conceptual tension Sason Shaik Saere K and Louis P Fiedler Chair in Chemistry Director The Lise Meitner Minerva Center for Computational Quantum Chemistry The Hebrew University of Jerusalem ISRAEL
