Unions Renewed Alice Martin, Annie Quick, 2020-09-29 Unions face a once in a generation opportunity for renewal Decades of decline have been compounded by a global elite who increasingly generate profit from financial engineering in ways that side step labour and undermine the power of organised workers However as this economic system begins to falter there are signs of a renewed union movement emerging Debt laden firms from supermarkets and nursery chains to outsourcing giants are collapsing and workers are organising to determine what comes next Unionised bank cashiers are refusing to push predatory loans teachers are striking against the exploitative housing market and manufacturing workers are pooling redundancy pay to buy out plants and become worker owners Alice Martin and Annie Quick argue that these are seeds of union renewal To be effective in an age of finance the union movement must set its ambitions beyond narrow wage bargaining and towards the financial systems that have infiltrated workplaces and impoverished communities By doing so they can play a critical role in ushering in a new democratic economy No one committed to economic justice can afford to miss this urgent highly original book and its radical vision for unions

The Migrant and her Trafficker Ruth Ennis, 2025-06-16 By the end of the nineteenth century terms like white slavery la traite des blanches and M dchenhandel had become linguistic equivalents to describe the coerced transnational migration of women and their subsequent sale of sex This book explores the historical roots of this Eurocentric conceptualization which since its development has fed into contemporary twenty first century understandings of human trafficking especially in women and children In unpacking these origins the books explores how populist narratives became entangled with state and organisational practices of categorising subalterns on the move

Contributing to the historiography white slavery is shown to have been not only a component of a shifting legal dogma on mobility control and international police cooperation but also a political concern of women's rights and moral reformist movements. Contrary to the sensationalized claims of the times white slavery was not a phenomenon reflecting such exaggerations but rather was part of the historical development of state mechanisms to define the voluntary and coerced migration based on race and gender based desirability.

Industries of Architecture Katie Lloyd Thomas, Tilo Amhoff, Nick Beech, 2015-11-06 At a time when the technologies and techniques of producing the built environment are undergoing significant change this book makes central architecture's relationship to industry. Contributors turn to historical and theoretical questions as well as to key contemporary developments taking a humanities approach to the Industries of Architecture that will be of interest to practitioners and industry professionals as much as to academic researchers, teachers and students. How has modern architecture responded to mass production? How do we understand the necessarily social nature of production in the architectural office and on the building site? And how is architecture entwined within wider fields of production and reproduction, finance, capital, the spaces of regulation and management techniques? What are the particular effects of techniques and technologies and above all their interrelations on those who labour in architecture, the buildings they produce and the discursive frameworks we mobilise to understand them.
