

Sanders Rhetorical Essay

Journalist, Scott Russell Sanders, in his article, "Staying Put: Making a Home in a Restless World," states his response to an essay, written by Salman Rushdie, who is an Indian immigrant himself, on the effects of migrations. Sanders refutes Rushdie's belief that "movement is inherently good," as well as his enthusiasm for migrating which leads to "people who root themselves in ideas rather than places." Sanders justifies the importance for people to be inhabitants who care for and respect the area in which they settle in and advocates for people to root themselves to places rather than ideas. Through the use of metaphors to compare the negative effects of migrations, parallelism to put emphasis on the message he is trying to convey, and the use imagery to appeal to the reader's senses Sanders states his judgement on migration. By using these methods, Sanders critiques Rushdie's claims about migration and effectively demonstrates why it is better for people, native or not, to root themselves to their location rather than old visions and habits.

Sanders opens his argument by illustrating how Americans have always strived to acquire new land and claim new ground. Using a very nostalgic tone, he describes Americas history of "restless movers" by elaborating that "Our promised land has always been over the next ridge or at the end of the trail, never under our feet." From his symbolic diction seen in the use of the words "promised land", "our", "we", and "Americans" the author unites himself with the reader and forms a connection which helps give the reader a sense of importance. This effect also helps create a friendly and inviting tone which manipulates the reader to empathize with the authors perspective on the issue. Continuing his opening, the authors uses parallelism in order to appeal to the reader's emotions by exemplifying Americans greed for land and its devastating effects. The author uses parallelism when he states how "we (Americans) fish out a stream or wear out a field, or if the smoke from a neighbor's chimney begins to crowd the sky, why, off we go to a new stream, a fresh field, a clean sky." This plays on the emotions of the reader by bringing to their attention the careless way Americans use and abuse the world and further validates Sanders point that we should "cease to be migrants and become inhabitants, we might begin to pay enough heed and respect to where we are." Sanders' connotation of "migrants" implies ignorance of Americans who turn to migrating as the solution to their problems, but his connotation of "inhabitants" implies a more caregiving and humane association between Americans and their surroundings.
