Johanningmeier, 2008-01-01 Educational Research The National Agenda and Educational Reform examines the origins history nature purposes and status of educational research by focusing on the relationships among educational research the national agenda educational reform and the social and behavioral sciences Its major claim is that the history of educational research is embedded in the nation's social political intellectual and economic histories Attention is given to three significant periods the Progressive Era when modern educational research began to assume its present form the Post World War II Era when educators and educational researchers were directed to return to or turn to the academic disciplines and the Civil Rights Era after the Supreme Court in Brown ended legal racial segregation and raised questions about equality of educational opportunity that are still with us These were significant periods when there was a clear national agenda shaped by both public and private agencies Educators and educational researchers adopted policies and strategies in response to concerns and interests expressed by the public by government officials and by philanthropies Researchers responses have had long term consequences as seen in the reaction to The Coleman Report debates about the merits of quantitative research as opposed to qualitative research the ongoing discussion about the merits of No Child Left Behind the achievement gap the creation of the Institute of Education Sciences and the emphasis now placed on scientifically based research The origins of the common school the work of the philosopher Johann Friedrich Herbart and his followers and the revolution in scientific method brought about by Charles Darwin's work are included because they serve as the foundation for educational research Educational researchers identification with and interest in individual performance and ability and their measurement is related to the close relationship educational researchers have had with psychology a discipline that typically does not focus on social context The significance of educational researchers borrowing from the behavioral sciences especially psychology is examined through a discussion of the mental hygiene movement as supported by

Online learning has become more and more common globally whether for comfort adapting to work hours or just having the freedom to study from anywhere And now under the coronavirus pandemic as people are having to stay at home it has become more important than ever Although the popularity of wireless network and portable smart device makes it possible for people to acquire and learn knowledge anytime and anywhere it does not necessarily mean an increased learning performance Relevant research in cognitive science has revealed possible limitations in online learning For example the knowledge acquired through online learning tends to be fragmented and lacks guidance for integrated thinking among different subjects which makes it difficult for learners to form a systematic knowledge structure Learners may experience cognitive overload metacognitive illusion and low learning efficiency in self regulated learning It follows that in the post COVID 19 era online learning puts forward new requirements and challenges to the contemporary students not only to their learning strategies but positive character traits in learning Most of the current learning theories were developed in the early 20th century and may not fit in well with the current situation then possibly leading to inefficient learning and increased learning burden Therefore it is necessary and important to reexplore the influencing factors and mechanisms that affect the learning efficiency of students at all levels nowadays based on which we could construct a theoretical model of efficient learning model The American School Board Journal William George Bruce,William Conrad Bruce,1896 Subject Index of the Modern Books Acquired by the British Museum in the Years ... ,1927 Science News-letter ,1929
