Saving and Investment in the Twenty-First Century Carl Christian von Weizsäcker, Hagen M. Krämer, 2021-06-29 The economy of the 21st century in the OECD countries and in China is characterized by a new phenomenon the structural surplus of private savings in relation to private investment This is true even in a situation of prosperity and very low interest rates On the one hand this excess saving is due to people's increasing inclination to save in light of rising life expectancy driven by the desire to have sufficient assets in old age On the other hand the demand for capital is not increasing to the same extent so that investment is not keeping pace with the rising desire to save The resulting gap between the private desire for wealth and private investment can only be closed by increasing public debt This open access book offers a new capital theoretical perspective on the macroeconomic relationship between desired wealth and investment and it presents new empirical data on private wealth and its composition in the OECD plus China area The authors argue that a free economic and social order can only be stabilized if the wealth aspirations of individuals are met under conditions of price stability This is not possible without substantial net public debt A new way of thinking about the economy as a whole is required By way of an in depth theoretical and empirical analysis the book demonstrates this new way of thinking and describes the current challenges facing economic policy It will appeal to economists and students of economics who are interested in macroeconomic theory and its economic policy implications An impressive and convincing theoretical dive into the fundamentals behind secular stagnation with very strong implications for actual debt policy Public debt may be needed to improve welfare Olivier Blanchard Senior Fellow at the Peterson Institute for International Economics and Professor of Economics Emeritus at Massachusetts Institute of Technology MIT Chief Economist at the International Monetary Fund from 2008 to 2015 Saving and Investment in the Twenty First Century gives a wholly new perspective on macroeconomics Weizsäcker and Krämer describe a simple practical solution to the underemployment that has plagued Southern Europe for more than a decade George Akerlof Nobel Laureate in Economics 2001 Professor at the McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University and Professor of Economics Emeritus at the University of California Berkeley This is a profound and original contribution that can help us to understand and act on the great issues of our times Nicholas Stern Grantham Research Institute on Climate Change and the Environment at the London School of Economics Author of the Stern Review Report on the Economics of Climate Change Chief Economist at the World Bank from 2000 to 2003 Reading Vincent Quinn, 2020-06-01 Why do we read and have we always read in the same way Reading A cultural practice uses a rich variety of literary and visual sources to explore how reading has changed and continues to change in response to new technologies and shifting social pressures Drawing on medieval illustrations classic fiction the art and literature of the Bloomsbury Group and contemporary e culture the book shows that there is no single unchanging thing called reading instead it is something that mutates over time Throughout history ways of reading and theories of reading have been shaped by religious and educational institutions This continues to be true but current approaches to reading are also conditioned by debates over digital culture and social media use Reading A cultural practice re frames these contemporary preoccupations by offering a long view on how our notions of books and reading alter according to social and historical context Minerals Yearbook Mines Bureau, Geological Survey, Interior Department, 2017-02-15 Area Reports International These annual reviews are designed to provide timely statistical data on mineral commodities in various countries Each report includes sections on government policies and programs environmental issues trade and production data industry structure and ownership commodity sector developments infrastructure and a summary outlook Audience International minerals brokers minerals buyers construction industry chemical industry commodities brokers commodities transportation carriers financial services executives financial brokers commodities exchange members geologists Minerals Yearbook Mines Bureau, Geological Survey, Interior Department, 2017-03-06 The region of Europe and Central Eurasia defined in this volume encompasses territory that extends from the Atlantic Coast of Europe to the Pacific Coast of the Russian Federation It includes the British Isles Iceland and Greenland a self governing part of the Kingdom of Denmark Included are mineral commodity outlook tables plus global overview research for particularly commodities within a specific regions countries are presented throughout the text Manufacturers of these metals and commodities along with trade brokers that may specialize in imports and exports political scientists and economists may also be interested in this volume Students pursuing research on specific metals and mineral commodities for world economy courses may be interested in this volume Related products Other print volumes in the Minerals Yearbook series can be found here https://bookstore.gpo.gov/catalog/science/technology/minerals/metals/minerals\_yearbook Minerals and Metals resources collection can be found here https://bookstore.gpo.gov/catalog/science/technology/minerals/metals/minerals\_yearbook Intercity Transport and Climate Change Yoshitsugu Hayashi, Shigeru Morichi, Tae Hoon Oum, Werner Rothengatter, 2014-11-25 While intercity passenger transport counts for about 2% of the total passenger transport volume the share of the total passenger kilometers traveled is estimated more than one third In many countries the major part of intercity transport is performed by car and air and as a result the contribution to the carbon footprint is substantially higher than the share of overall passenger transport performance This creates a challenge to develop a sustainable organization of intercity transport which requires a true joint effort of policy makers industry sectors and households This presupposes that all options for reducing the carbon footprint of the transport modes car air and rail are fully exploited through modern propulsion technology use of regenerative energy and efficient organization of transport processes Basic conditions for meeting this requirement are an incentive compatible public framework of regulation taxation charging and education the private willingness to adjust to new behavioral patterns and a consequent push of technological progress towards energy and CO2 savings This book begins with an international comparison of intercity transport and the current state of greenhouse gas emissions GHG of this transport segment A focus is given to comparing the situation in the EU the US and Japan while describing the more recent development of intercity
