Jewitt,2019-01-15 This volume examines diplomatic relations between the United Kingdom and South Africa from 1986 to 1990 when deadlock gave way to the first stages in the unwinding of apartheid By the middle of 1986 the South African Government had succeeded in containing the township revolt but its hesitant moves towards reform had brought the end of apartheid no closer The intransigent figure of President P W Botha ensured a continuing stalemate until his reluctant departure from office in August 1989 The subsequent election of F W de Klerk marked the beginning of irrevocable change symbolised by the release of Nelson Mandela from prison in February 1990 This volume documents the role of the United Kingdom in keeping pressure on the South African Government building contacts with the African National Congress ANC and giving decisive encouragement to President de Klerk s reform initiatives It reveals recurrent differences of approach between the Foreign and Commonwealth Office and Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher However it also shows that despite her frequent confrontations with the international community in general and the Commonwealth in particular Mrs Thatcher repeatedly brought pressure to President Botha and strongly supported President de Klerk during his first crucial months in office Her part in bringing about change in South Africa was fully appreciated by Nelson Mandela whose first meeting with Mrs Thatcher concludes the volume This book will be of much interest to students of British politics African studies foreign policy and International Relations in general      The Challenge of Apartheid: UK-South African Relations, 1985-1986

Patrick Salmon,2016-11-25 This volume examines diplomatic relations between the United Kingdom and South Africa during one of the most turbulent periods of the apartheid era The crisis of apartheid that began in 1984 provoked international outrage on an unprecedented scale This volume documents the attempt by the British Government to formulate a response that would go some way towards meeting demands for action on the part of critics of South Africa in the Commonwealth the United States and the European Community as well as in the United Kingdom itself without at the same time inflicting unacceptable damage on Britain s significant economic interests in South Africa It was a process marked by frequent disagreements between Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and the Foreign and Commonwealth Office under Sir Geoffrey Howe The volume begins with reports of the deepening crisis at the beginning of 1985 and concludes with the Commonwealth Review Meeting in August 1986 one of the lowest of many low points in relations between the British Government and the critics of apartheid In South Africa meanwhile there seemed little hope of progress following the imposition of a national state of emergency as the confrontation between the Government and its opponents headed for deadlock and the power of the securocrats surrounding President Botha became steadily more entrenched This volume gives a flavour of what it was like to be a British diplomat working for change at that time This volume will be of great interest to students of International History British Political History African History and International Relations in general     Domestic and Family Violence Silke Meyer, Andrew Frost, 2019-05-24 Domestic and family violence DFV is an enduring social and public health issue of endemic proportions and global scale with multiple and lasting consequences for those directly affected This book tackles current debates in the field and addresses the social norms and settings that perpetuate this type of violence along with implications for service delivery The book offers a thorough introduction into the nature and extent of DFV in contemporary social contexts and serves as a foundation for informed practice It provides a firm theoretical and empirical overview of core issues covering the challenges and support needs experienced by those affected along with the implications this raises for the range of relevant response services The authors also offer insight into the predominantly gendered nature of DFV and its influence beyond the traditional couple context across age gender sexual orientation cultural background and family relationships Drawing on theoretical explanations international research and practice experience they highlight examples of good practice and holistic responses including primary secondary and tertiary prevention Written in a clear and direct style this book will appeal to students and scholars of criminology sociology and social work engaged in studies of domestic and family violence violence against women and intimate partner violence It will be an invaluable resource for those designing coordinating and conducting service responses     Municipal Journal and Public Works
