Disability Rights and Religious Liberty in Education Bruce J. Dierenfield, David A. Gerber, 2020-07-06 In 1988 Sandi and Larry Zobrest sued a suburban Tucson Arizona school district that had denied their hearing impaired son a taxpayer funded interpreter in his Roman Catholic high school The Catalina Foothills School District argued that providing a public resource for a private religious school created an unlawful crossover between church and state The Zobrests however claimed that the district had infringed on both their First Amendment right to freedom of religion and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act IDEA Bruce J Dierenfield and David A Gerber use the Zobrests story to examine the complex history and jurisprudence of disability accommodation and educational mainstreaming They look at the family s effort to acquire educational resources for their son starting in early childhood and the choices the Zobrests made to prepare him for life in the hearing world rather than the deaf community Dierenfield and Gerber also analyze the thorny church state issues and legal controversies that informed the case its journey to the U S Supreme Court and the impact of the high court s ruling on the course of disability accommodation and religious liberty

details the political life of one of the most prominent and gifted American statesmen of the twentieth century. From his early training in international law to his five terms in the US Senate, J. William Fulbright (1905-1995) had a profound influence on US foreign policy and his vision for mutual understanding shaped the extraordinary exchange program bearing his name. As a senator for Arkansas for thirty years and the longest serving chair of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Fulbright was one of the most influential figures of United States politics. His criticism of US involvement in Vietnam exemplified his belief in the effective management of international norms by international organizations including the United Nations, which was the subject of his first bill in Congress. Yet alongside his commitments to liberal internationalism and multilateral governance, Fulbright was a southern politician who embraced the interests of the region's conservative white population. This juxtaposition of biased and broad-minded objectives shows a divide at the center of Fulbright's vision, which still has consequences for America's global policies today. This multidimensional volume covers Fulbright's development as a national and global voice on foreign relations as he wrestled with the political controversies of the US South during the civil rights movement, worked with and challenged executive power, and shaped the Fulbright program for educational exchange.

Discrimination based on Colour, Ethnic Origin, Language, Religion and Belief in Turkey's Education System Nurcan Kaya, 2015-10-27. The Turkish government is urged to make a fundamental shift in its approach to education by Minority Rights Group International (MRG) in a new report. A long-standing focus on state building has been supplemented by increasing emphasis on religious teaching. Both feature strongly in the education system in Turkey, making schools a focus of discrimination. The report, Discrimination based on Colour, Ethnic Origin, Language, Religion and Belief in Turkey's Education System, reveals evidence of discrimination of minority groups and suggests comprehensive reforms to effectively ensure equality. The national education system, which for decades aimed to create young Turkish nationalists, has in recent years become a vehicle for raising young religious Turkish nationalists, says Nurcan Kaya, Turkey Coordinator of Minority Rights Group International. Religious education is compulsory from grade four in primary schools. While some information on world religions has been introduced, the emphasis remains on teaching Sunni Muslim religious practices. Children of Jewish and Christian families may apply to opt out, but the process can be cumbersome and in many schools alternatives are not provided for them. Non-Muslim students who have opted out can still find themselves having to remain in the religious instruction class or alternatively having to wander in the school corridor, making them vulnerable to taunts from pupils and even teachers. The opt-out possibility is still not available to children of other minorities. Another issue is mother tongue education. In 2012, a new elective on the living languages and dialects in Turkey was introduced, but due to various limitations, minorities remain marginalised. Others in the education system. Subsequent to the 2012 reform, the report monitors discrimination in the formal education system in the period of the academic year of 2014-2015. The findings are based on the field work of the Monitoring Discrimination in Education Network, an alliance of 16 organizations working in Turkey. The report compiles numerous cases of discrimination based on language religion ethnicity skin colour and the level of income In order to bring about a fundamental solution to these problems in the education system the government must prioritise developing an approach that sees all groups as equal and that responds to demands for rights based on such an understanding of equality says Kaya The report highlights that Turkey has no anti discrimination law or an equality commission to which victims of discrimination can apply The existing legislation contains no effective and accessible means of judicial remedies or compensation Therefore many discriminatory practices are not reported to school administrations The entire education system is based on Turkishness Non Turkish groups are either not referred to or referred in a negative way says Kaya Education system has played a significant role in deepening conflict in society The positive representation of other groups in the education system would contribute to social peace and harmony In order to resolve the many problems in the education system that the current approach causes the overall aim of government education policy should be cleared of ideological references and the protection of children s best interests and the right to education in line with international standards should be considered its fundamental goal says the report

School Effectiveness and Improvement Research, Policy and Practice Christopher Chapman,Paul Armstrong,Alma Harris,Daniel Muijs,David Reynolds,Pam Sammons,2012-03-12 This book provides a contemporary overview of school effectiveness and improvement It charts the development theory and research in this area and looks at the contribution made to policy and practice It also challenges some assumptions that have become ingrained into the theoretical and methodological traditions of the field By challenging these orthodoxies it provides a framework that sets a new agenda and repositions the field to meet the emerging challenges of the twenty first century It argues that traditional measures of school effectiveness are challenged as systems have attempted to adapt to a complex range of emerging agendas New theoretical perspectives are required which consider education and a broader set of outcomes This shift requires a rethink of how effectiveness and improvement have been understood by the field and a reconstruction by policy makers and practitioners Attention must be given to promoting equity as well as effectiveness so that one school or student s gain no longer means another s loss The field must develop new methodologies if inequities are to be challenged and a broader set of outcome measures are to be developed The two questions guiding this book are How can educational effectiveness and improvement research and practice support the development of a more equitable education service What are the key indicators of educational effectiveness and improvement and what are the new methodologies required to facilitate a shift from school effectiveness and improvement to educational effectiveness and improvement This book uses lenses of research policy and practice to explore these key questions and articulate what such a repositioning may look like and how it may be achieved It will prove invaluable for teachers school leaders and anyone involved in policy and educational research
