Individual Sport Athletes Justin Roberts, Alvaro López Samanes, Gina Trakman, 2024-12-12 Sports nutrition together with training recovery genetics and environmental considerations represent key factors for achieving high performance on the sports field. In recent years there has been an increased interest in the potential of novel dietary strategies e.g. periodized nutrition and dietary supplements ergogenic aids to improve individual and team sports athletes performance. However the majority of the research in the sports nutrition field has been conducted in endurance or high intensity sports highlighting the need for specific information and collaborative strategies to support nutritional knowledge and targeted dietary supplementation strategies to inform and support other athletes. The aim of this Research Topic is to provide current findings about the benefits associated with using nutritional interventions and/or dietary supplements ergogenic aids on supporting or enhancing sports performance with focus on these applications in real world sports contexts e.g. competition training situations etc. Studies that focus on novel interventions supplements are encouraged. Likewise studies that report on outcomes related to previously proven supplements interventions but in an athlete sub population where limited published literature exists will be considered favorably.

Managing High Performance Sport Popi Sotiriadou, Veerle de Bosscher, 2013 How can managers design and implement effective high performance programmes in sport? What are the key challenges in managing elite athletes sports people and teams? This is the first book to provide a comprehensive introduction to management practice process and policy in elite and high performance sport HPS. Drawing on real world case studies of elite sport around the world the book shows a conceptual framework for studying and analysing high performance sport and introduces the skills and techniques that managers and administrators will need to develop effective HPS programmes. The book examines the macro level factors that determine a nation's sporting success including political social and cultural elements and then moves on to unpack the specifics of elite athlete and team management at a micro level. Adopting an integrated holistic approach throughout the book highlights best practice in every key area of an HPS programme including defining performance and success organizational structure and leadership finance funding and marketing coaching and coach development talent identification and development competition and events training and facilities scientific research and sport science support The book features contributions from world leading sport management academics as well as practitioners with experience of managing HPS programmes at world and Olympic level Each chapter includes a full range of useful features such as summaries case studies review questions and guides to further reading This is essential reading for all serious students and professionals working in sport management or high performance sport
