Digitally Augmenting Traditional Craft Practices for Social Justice Angelika Strohmayer, 2021-04-16 This book weaves together disparate worlds of crafting social justice and digital technologies around The Partnership Quilt It crafts a manifesto for meaningful action and design processes in charitable organizations through participatory sewing and its digital augmentation The book charts a history of how sewing has been used to voice concerns of oppression and how digital technologies can be embedded into textiles to tell stories more powerfully It explores the relationship between quilting and research looking beyond the seams of The Partnership Quilt to shed light on the importance of invisible work behind such participatory justice oriented design projects It concludes with a discussion of the impacts and potential future avenues for research on digitally quilting social justice This book is an excellent offering that highlights ways in which visual approaches to research and community work can serve as a canvas for the outpouring of oppression anger hope resilience and reimagining of a socially just future It is a great gift and valuable resource for academics activists and students interested in social justice participatory action research and digital technologies Puleng Segalo Professor University of South Africa SA

This expansive undertaking exhibits Strohmayer's force as a thinker, author, and partner in design. From the soldering of electrodes through the review on craft-based activism, Strohmayer generously takes us through a design process from start to finish, to examine the relationships that shift along the way. She shows us how worlds of textiles partake in the making of collective futures, nurturing forms of connection as a means of creative expression, self-determination, and remembrance.

Daniela Rosner, Associate Professor, Human-Centered Design Engineering, University of Washington, USA. This book is a highlight for the courageous minds to break the circle and re-think artistic practices as a more justice-oriented, connected, and collaborative mechanisms for our futures. You will have a journey to face who and what forms of designs were privileged or silenced in the global history of quilting. You will be inspired and provoked by the making of the Partnership Quilt. The quilt piece is the materialized example that embodies the many ways of touchy-feely conversations and the possibilities to weave, stitch, or this time, to quilt new worlds together. This book is about the making of artistic hope. It is about what is possible once we see the beauty of equity instead of privileges in design.

zge Suba, Futurewell Assistant Professor, Department of Media and Visual Arts, Ko University, Turkey. The Partnership Quilt is a powerful example of the transformative power of craftivism. In this book, Dr. Angelika Strohmayer pragmatically illustrates how carefully considered participatory craft-based projects empower those involved, value-add to the important work being done by NGOs, and provide researchers with a methodology that supports and promotes social justice outcomes.

Dr. Tal Fitzpatrick, Artist, Craftivist, and Disability Support Worker, Naarm Melbourne, Australia. The Partnership Quilt as a model of participatory textile making draws together relational expertise from the distinct worlds of communication technologies, crafting, and ecologies of care. With a focus on collaboration, Strohmayer experiments with the quilt as a metaphor for a layered interdisciplinary research process, as well as a material expression of carefully crafted relationships between makers, researchers, charitable organisations, and a marginalised group of sex workers. This richly detailed and insightful book is a timely addition to a growing literature around participatory textile making, advocating for interdisciplinary practices that address the care and maintenance of people's lived experiences.

Newell, 2014-03-15 Drawing from 167 examples of decorative needlework primarily samplers and quilts from 114 collections across the United States made by individual women aged forty years and over between 1820 and 1860 this exquisitely illustrated book explores how women experienced social and cultural change in antebellum America The book is filled with individual examples stories and over eighty fine color photographs that illuminate the role that samplers and needlework played in the culture of the time For example in October 1852 Amy Fiske 1785 1859 of Sturbridge Massachusetts stitched a sampler But she was not a schoolgirl making a sampler to learn her letters Instead as she explained The above is what I have taken from my sampler that I wrought when I was nine years old It was w rough t on fine cloth and it tattered to pieces My age at this time is 66 years Situated at the intersection of women s history material culture study and the history of aging this book brings together objects diaries letters portraits and prescriptive literature to consider how middle class American women experienced the aging process Chapters explore the physical and mental effects of old age on antebellum women and their needlework technological developments related to needlework during the antebellum period and the tensions that arose from the increased mechanization of textile production and how gift needlework functioned among friends and family members Far from being solely decorative ornaments or functional household textiles these samplers and quilts served their own ends They offered aging women a means of coping of sharing and of expressing themselves These threads of time provide a valuable and revealing source for the lives of mature antebellum women Publication of this book was made possible in part through generous funding from the Coby Foundation Ltd and from the Quilters Guild of Dallas Helena Hibbs Endowment Fund
