„Little Research Value.“ Ellen Ndeshi Namhila, 2017-12-14 Ellen Ndeshi Namhila is intrigued by the question Why can the National Archives of Namibia respond to genealogical enquiries of Whites in a matter of minutes with finding estate records of deceased persons while similar requests from Blacks cannot be served Not satisfied with the sweeping statement that this is the result of colonialism and apartheid she follows the track of so called Native estates through legislation record creation and dispersal records management and administrative neglect authorised and unauthorised destruction transfer and appraisal selective processing and almost final amnesia Eventually she discovers over 11 000 forgotten surviving African estate records but also evidence for the destruction of many others And she demonstrates the potential of these records to interpret the lives of those who otherwise appear in history only as statistics records which were condemned to destruction by colonial archivists stating they had little research value and no functional value This study of memory against forgetting is a call to post colonial archives to re visit their holdings and the systemic colonial bias that continues to haunt them This is the revised version of Ellen Namhila's 2015 doctoral thesis published at the University of Tampere Finland      The Next Phase in Heritage Language Studies: Methodological Considerations and Advancements Fatih Bayram, Maki Kubota, Sergio Miguel Pereira Soares, 2024-03-27 Over the past three decades studies investigating heritage speaker HS linguistic competencies have shown time and again that despite being L1 or 2L1 native speakers of their home language's HS outcomes display variation across a wide spectrum of differences as compared to each other other types of bilinguals as well as their monolingual peers Studies have traditionally used mostly behavioral methodologies rooted in adjacent established fields e g L1 acquisition adult L2 acquisition offering in addition to documenting and describing HS performance important insights for linguistic theory and challenges related to home minority language maintenance contact policy and more A birds eye view makes it clear that the methodologies one uses to tap into HSs linguistic knowledge areas if not more are important than the phenomena under investigation especially in light of how their unique experiences with their heritage and other languages are present across a continuum
