Griffith Review Tall Tales Shortthe Novella Project Iii:

The First Wave Gillian Dooley, Danielle Clode, 2019-06-20 The European maritime explorers who first visited the bays and beaches of Australia brought with them diverse assumptions about the inhabitants of the country most of them based on sketchy or non-existent knowledge contemporary theories like the idea of the noble savage and an automatic belief in the superiority of European civilisation Mutual misunderstanding was almost universal whether it resulted in violence or apparently friendly transactions Written for a general audience The First Wave brings together a variety of contributions from thought provoking writers including both original research and creative work Our contributors explore the dynamics of these early encounters from Indigenous cosmological perspectives and European history of ideas from representations in art and literature to the role of animals food and fire in mediating first contact encounters and Indigenous agency in exploration and shipwrecks The First Wave includes poetry by Yankunytjatjara Aboriginal poet Ali Cobby Eckermann fiction by Miles Franklin award winning Noongar author Kim Scott and Danielle Clode and an account of the arrival of Christian missionaries in the Torres Strait Islands by Torres Strait political leader George Mye

Griffith Review 50 Julianne Schultz, Aviva Tuffield, 2015-10-21 I believe the novella is the perfect form of prose fiction It is the beautiful daughter of a rambling bloated ill shaven giant but a giant who is a genius on his best days And this child is the means by which many first know our greatest writers Ian McEwan In 2012 Griffith Review 38 The Novella Project relaunched the novella in Australia It gave Australian and New Zealand authors a platform in the revival of the form in the English language Griffith Review 46 Forgotten Stories The Novella Project II was a confronting moving and provocative collection of five novellas with a historical dimension Griffith Review 50 Tall Tales Short The Novella Project III features five novellas selected from a nationwide competition blind judged by Cate Kennedy Jacqueline Blanchard and Brian Johns Contributors are Tony Davis Nick Earls Helen Gildford Catherine McKinnon and Madeleine Watts Griffith Review 50 Tall Tales Short The Novella Project III promises to be the best collection so far of this exciting form

Novella Project VII: Griffith Review 66 Ashley Hay, 2019

Griffith REVIEW 38 Julianne Schultz, 2012-10-24 The Novella Project revives one of the richest and most rewarding literary forms Novellas longer than a short story shorter than a novel have come into their own with the digital publishing revolution providing new opportunities for writers to experiment with longer stories that are intense detailed often grounded in the times and perfectly designed for busy people to read in one sitting This edition features six stories picked by a panel of judges from more than two hundred entries Mary Rose MacColl explores the rippling consequences of a single moment of distraction Lyndel Caffrey poignantly recreates the bleak Melbourne winter of 1923 and Katerina Cosgrove combines a portrait of strife torn Greece with a tale of tortured love Ed Wright tells the tragic story of a spirited teenager torn between love and duty in wartime Japan Christine Kearney embraces the complexities of the mythic and contemporary reality of life in East Timor and Jim Hearn cooks up a challenging and gritty tale of a junkie in trouble The Novella Project marks the beginning of an ongoing project developed in collaboration with the Copyright Agency Limited's Cultural Fund which we hope will help foster a new golden age for the novella with an antipodean perspective Novella Project Judging Panel Craig Munro Estelle Tang Julianne van Loon Griffith Review 54 Julianne Schultz, 2016-10-31 Griffith Review once again turns its attention to the fast growing novella form with its annual edition dedicated to the five winning entries from our fourth novella competition Past editions have featured both outstanding established writers and emerging talent with some novellas going on to be developed into published novels The novellas that emerge from our competition Cate Kennedy writes are short enough to consume like a single satisfying meal long enough to linger over with coffee they deliver us into worlds we don't expect and have a hard time forgetting For sheer invention and range the authors showcase the vitality and scope of the short form to create dynamic visceral and memorable worlds Or as British author David Mitchell commented I like the length of a novella It's short enough to be a getaway car from the cops of boredom To Sing of War Catherine McKinnon, 2024-05 From the author of the Miles Franklin Award shortlisted Storyland comes a rich layered and thrilling novel of love war and friendship To Sing of War Transcends the boundaries of historical fiction Books Publishing DECEMBER 1944 In New Guinea a young Australian nurse Lotte Wyld chances upon her first love Virgil Nicholson a soldier in the Allies hard fought jungle campaign At Los Alamos in the United States idealistic physicists Miriam Carver and Fred Johnson join Robert Oppenheimer and a team of brilliant scientists in a collective dream to build a weapon that will stop all war while Kitty Oppenheimer wrestles with restrictions on her freedom And on the sacred island of Miyajima in Japan Hiroko Narushima is doing her best to protect her family Each of these people yearns to belong yet each fiercely protects their independence Secrets misunderstandings and fears burden them shame shapes them hope and imagination lift them up They are caught in a moment of history both enthralled and appalled by actions they must undertake A beautiful rich and intricately woven novel To Sing of War asks how one person can make a difference in a world that is wondrous thrilling and endangered It insists on our interconnectedness hums with the energy of the world and is a blazingly powerful and deeply moving account of friendship love and war

Storyland Catherine McKinnon, 2017-04-01 An ambitious remarkable and moving novel about who we are our past present and future and our connection to this land SHORTLISTED FOR THE 2018 MILES FRANKLIN LITERARY AWARD Storyland is a worthy contender for the Great Australian Novel encompassing ambitious Readings In 1796 a young cabin boy Will Martin goes on a voyage of discovery in the Tom Thumb with Matthew Flinders and Mr Bass two men and a boy in a tiny boat on an exploratory journey south from Sydney Cove to the Illawarra full of hope and dreams daring and fearfulness Set on the banks of Lake Illawarra and spanning four centuries Storyland is a unique and compelling novel of people and place which tells in essence the story of Australia Told in an unfurling narrative of interlinking stories in a style reminiscent of David Mitchell's Cloud Atlas McKinnon weaves together the stories of Will Martin together with the stories of four others a desperate ex convict Hawker who commits an act of terrible brutality Lola who in 1900 runs a dairy farm on the Illawarra with her brother and sister when they come under suspicion for a crime they did not commit Bel a young girl who goes on a rafting adventure with her friends in 1998 and is unexpectedly caught up in violent events and in 2033 Nada who sees her world start to crumble apart Intriguingly all these characters are all connected not only through the same land and water they inhabit over the decades but also by tendrils of blood history memory and property Compelling thrilling and ambitious Storyland is our story the story of Australia The land is a book waiting to be read as one of the characters says and this novel tells us an unforgettable and unputdownable story of our history our present and our future Storyland has been shortlisted for the 2018 Miles Franklin Award the Barbara Jefferis Award and the Voss Award A beautifully woven story a devastating retelling of man's effect on the land and the native people and offers a chilling insight into what may come to pass with climate change Storyland is reminiscent of Patrick White's A Fringe of Leaves Kate Grenville's The Secret River and The Lieutenant and even dare I say a bit of Tim Winton's Cloudstreet Books Publishing Impressive a haunted and haunting power The Australian Breathtaking simply stunning Herald Sun This is a book I will return to multiple times both for its beauty and subtlety and for the sheer pleasure of experiencing the world it reflects Otago Daily Times It just might be the real story of Australia Qantas Magazine
