Public Finance and Public Policy Arye L. Hillman,2003-07-28 Sample Text Models in Political Economy Martin J. Osborne,2025-09-12 This volume explores topics that lie at the core of political economy collective choice voting elections bargaining and rebellion It presents the main formal models used to study the behavior of individuals and groups in political contexts from choosing public policies and participating as voters and candidates in elections to staging revolutions Complete mathematical proofs are provided to clarify the assumptions and deepen understanding Part I presents models of collective choice The main question is whether methods exist for selecting a reasonable compromise when individuals preferences differ Models of voting are studied in Part II Included are models in which the individuals differ in their preferences as well as ones in which they differ in their information One chapter considers the implications of individuals having ethical concerns and another studies a model of sequential voting Models of electoral competition under the assumption of various motivations for the candidates are discussed in Part III One chapter is devoted to the application of these models to the study of redistributive policy The book concludes with Part IV which covers models of bargaining and rebellion The book offers a rigorous yet accessible foundation for understanding how formal tools can illuminate political phenomena X-Machines for Agent-Based Modeling Mariam Kiran,2017-08-30 From the Foreword This book exemplifies one of the most successful approaches to modeling and simulating the new generation of complex systems FLAME was designed to make the building of large scale complex systems models straightforward and the simulation code that it generates is highly efficient and can be run on any modern technology FLAME was the first such platform that ran efficiently on high performance parallel computers and a version for GPU technology is also available At its heart and the reason why it is so efficient and robust is the use of a powerful computational model Communicating X machines which is general enough to cope with most types of modelling problems As well as being increasingly important in academic research FLAME is now being applied in industry in many different application areas This book describes the basics of FLAME and is illustrated with numerous examples Professor Mike Holcombe University of Sheffield UK Agent based models have shown applications in various fields such as biology economics and social science Over the years multiple agent based modeling frameworks have been produced allowing experts with non computing background to easily write and simulate their models However most of these models are limited by the capability of the framework the time it takes for a simulation to finish or how to handle the massive amounts of data produced FLAME Flexible Large scale Agent based Modeling Environment was produced and developed through the years to address these issues This book contains a comprehensive summary of the field

covers the basics of FLAME and shows how concepts of X machines can be stretched across multiple fields to produce agent models. It has been written with several audiences in mind. First it is organized as a collection of models with detailed descriptions of how models can be designed especially for beginners. A number of theoretical aspects of software engineering and how they relate to agent based models are discussed for students interested in software engineering and parallel computing. Finally it is intended as a guide to developers from biology, economics and social science who want to explore how to write agent based models for their research area. By working through the model examples provided, anyone should be able to design and build agent based models and deploy them. With FLAME they can easily increase the agent number and run models on parallel computers in order to save on simulation complexity and waiting time for results. Because the field is so large and active, the book does not aim to cover all aspects of agent based modeling and its research challenges. The models are presented to show researchers how they can build complex agent functions for their models. The book demonstrates the advantage of using agent based models in simulation experiments, providing a case to move away from differential equations and build more reliable, close to real models. Capital and Knowledge Wei-Bin Zhang, 2012-12-06. This book constructs an economic theory which may be studied like the I Ching: it contains multiple patterns within a grand whole; it consists of multiple parts and each part represents itself as a consistent unity. The book is the key part of my economic theory with endogenous population, capital, knowledge, preferences, sexual division of labor and consumption institutions, economic structures and exchange values over time and space. Zhang I 996a. It has taken me a long, laborious process to systematize the ideas represented in this book, formulating the grand vision in Schumpeter's sense, searching for or creating many ideas of which only a few have survived, and now completing this book to make a tell. I remember Schumpeter's attitude: new ideas, unless carefully elaborated, panistakingly defended and pushed simply will not tell. Schumpeter 1934. Keynes' observation: the difficulty lies not in the new ideas but in escaping from the old ones which ramify into every corner of our minds. Keynes 1936, as well as Confucius' recognition of the importance of timing. If my principles are to advance, it is so ordered; if they are to fall to the ground, it is so ordered. Confucius 1992.
