Paechter,2020-01-31 Strengthening South Korea-Japan Relations Dennis Patterson,Jangsup Choi,2024-04-09 At the conclusion of WWII no part of the world experienced a more dramatic transformation than East Asia. The region's political stability throughout the postwar period prompted exponential economic growth that ultimately established South Korea, Japan, and China as East Asia's most important powers. While many citizens of these nations now live in a time of unprecedented prosperity, the arrangement that supported this region's transformation is fragile. With the second largest economy and a burgeoning military sector, China is widely acknowledged as the preeminent rising world power. The onus of maintaining balance in the region now rests primarily with South Korea and Japan in partnership with the United States. However, because of long-standing weaknesses in South Korea-Japan relations and an inconsistent US commitment to the region, the possibility that China could usher in a more uncertain era of revisionism has never been more likely. In Strengthening South Korea-Japan Relations: East Asia's International Order and a Rising China, Dennis Patterson and Jangsup Choi address the historical roots of this weak alliance. Combining decades of research with current public opinion data, the authors warn that the tendency of these nations to rely on the United States to maintain the status quo has become dangerously unstable. A new strategy of cooperation and collaboration is needed to prevent China from upending the region's current liberal international order.

Supply Chain Management: Text and Cases, Sople, 2011. Supply Chain Management is essential for creating value for both customers and stakeholders. Effective supply chains help organizations to compete in both global and domestic markets. Supply Chain Management: Text and Cases addresses these issues in seven parts which deal with the basics of the supply chain, sub-systems of the supply chain, tactical and operational decisions, strategic approach to the supply chain, measurements, controls, and sustainability practices.

Introductory Econometrics, Jeffrey Wooldridge, 2002-07.

The Institutions Curse, Victor Menaldo, 2016-08-16. The resource curse is the view that countries with extensive natural resources tend to suffer from a host of undesirable outcomes including the weakening of state capacity, authoritarianism, fewer public goods, war, and economic stagnation. This book debunks this view, arguing that there is an institutions curse rather than a resource curse. Legacies endemic to the developing world have impelled many countries to develop natural resources as a default sector in lieu of cultivating modern and diversified economies, and bad institutions have also condemned nations to suffer from ills unduly attributed to minerals and oil. Victor Menaldo also argues that natural resources can actually play an integral role in stimulating state capacity, capitalism, industrialization, and democracy, even if resources are themselves often a symptom of underdevelopment. Despite being cursed by their institutions, weak states are blessed by their resources: greater oil means more development, both historically and across countries today.

Dimensiuni ale rezistenței la inovare în industria modei : abordări ale economiei clasice și economiei comportamentale, Ionela-Andreea PUIU, 2023-01-01. Expunerea indivizilor la stimulul de inovare conduce la proclamarea unui spectru de atitudini transpuse în reacții comportamentale corespondente unor manifestări prudențiale. Răspunsul comportamental al unui individ la inovație este armonizat interversiunilor antrenate de procesul de schimbare astfel că intensitatea unei atitudini rezervate este direct conectată cu gradul de divergență al inovațiilor comparativ mecanismelor existente. Cadrul teoretic a vădit existența unei intransigențe privind inovarea în industria vestimentară. Rezultatele cadrului empiric au reliefat faptul că aplicabilitatea proceselor nanotehnologice în industria vestimentară nu este lipsită de o dimensiune de tergiversare a asimilării componentei de inovare. Analiza întreprinsă evidențiind o reticență a consumatorilor privind achiziționarea și utilizarea unor articole vestimentare realizate cu nanotehnologii conturează în acest sens o intransigență între permutări ale opțiunii implicite. Aplicabilitatea nanotehnologiilor în domeniul vestimentar stimulează percepția riscurilor concomitent cu prefacerea obiceiurilor existente astfel încât să se valideze ipoteza unui grad scăzut de intransigență privind componenta de inovare.
