U.S. Burning Plasma Research, 2019-05-31 Fusion offers the prospect of virtually unlimited energy The United States and many nations around the world have made enormous progress toward achieving fusion energy With ITER scheduled to go online within a decade and demonstrate controlled fusion ten years later now is the right time for the United States to develop plans to benefit from its investment in burning plasma research and take steps to develop fusion electricity for the nation's future energy needs At the request of the Department of Energy the National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine organized a committee to develop a strategic plan for U S fusion research The final report's two main recommendations are 1 The United States should remain an ITER partner as the most cost effective way to gain experience with a burning plasma at the scale of a power plant 2 The United States should start a national program of accompanying research and technology leading to the construction of a compact pilot plant that produces electricity from fusion at the lowest possible capital cost      National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1971 First
