This series of books uses fiction non fiction and poetry texts as well as phonics as a basis to help young children in the Early Years develop their literacy skills It brings together the early learning goals of the foundation stage and the national literacy strategy objectives using structured play games and fun activities to put across the relevant teaching points in an enjoyable way while simultaneously nurturing a love of literature Each book presents structured activities based around suggested focus texts To help practitioners save time in planning and organizing the materials needed and the preparation required for each session are described in detail The activities have been designed to cater to different achievement levels and can be adapted or added to according to the needs of individual children and settings Follow up activities are also suggested to bring in wider aspects of the Early Learning Goals and the NLS objectives Elements of this book include exploring well loved traditional stories and quality familiar modern stories by established authors using the texts as a basis to focus on specific literacy goals and objectives using the texts as a stimulus for games and play activities that help to teach literacy skills planning and preparation for each literacy session including materials needed and scripted sessions ideas for working and playing with the whole group and smaller groups to consolidate the literacy skill and extension ideas and activities

Language Daniel L. Everett, 2012-03-13 A bold and provocative study that presents language not as an innate component of the brain as most linguists do but as an essential tool unique to each culture worldwide For years the prevailing opinion among academics has been that language is embedded in our genes existing as an innate and instinctual part of us But linguist Daniel Everett argues that like other tools language was invented by humans and can be reinvented or lost He shows how the evolution of different language forms that is different grammar reflects how language is influenced by human societies and experiences and how it expresses their great variety For example the Amazonian Pirah put words together in ways that violate our long held understanding of how language works and Pirah grammar expresses complex ideas very differently than English grammar does Drawing on the Wari language of Brazil Everett explains that speakers of all languages in constructing their stories omit things that all members of the culture understand In addition Everett discusses how some cultures can get by without words for numbers or counting without verbs for to say or to give illustrating how the very nature of what is important in a language is culturally determined Combining anthropology primatology computer science philosophy linguistics psychology and his own pioneering and adventurous research with the Amazonian Pirah and using insights from many different languages and cultures Everett gives us an unprecedented elucidation of this society defined nature of language In doing so he also gives us a new understanding of how we think and who we are
