Principles of Assessment and Outcome Measurement for Occupational Therapists and Physiotherapists Alison Laver Fawcett, 2013-03-15 This textbook on assessment and outcome measurement is written for both occupational therapy and physiotherapy students and qualified therapists. It begins by defining what is meant by assessment, outcome evaluation and measurement and discussing the complexity of therapy assessment and measurement including the challenge of measuring human behaviour and the impact of factors such as task demand and context including the environment. Methods of data collection e.g. observation, interview, standardised testing and sources e.g. self report, proxy for collecting information about clients are then reviewed and the main purposes of assessment e.g. descriptive, evaluative, predictive, discriminative presented. The book then addresses the topics of standardisation, levels of measurement, reliability, validity and clinical utility. There is a chapter describing and applying models for categorizing levels of function to aid assessment and measurement. The concept of clinical reasoning and reflective practice is then explored. Application of principles is supported through detailed case studies and worksheets and the criteria for test critique and guidelines for choosing a particular assessment approach are discussed.

Crisis Intervention Handbook Albert R. Roberts, 2000 The handbook prepares the counselor or social service worker for rapid assessment and timely crisis prevention during this widely used brief treatment modality. Handbook of Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies with Older Adults Dolores Gallagher Thompson, Ann Steffen, Larry W. Thompson, 2007-10-12 It gives me great pleasure to witness continued growth in the application of cognitive and behavioral theories and therapies to more diverse populations including in this volume their application to the mental health problems of later life. Evidence continues to accumulate demonstrating that these are effective in treating a broad range of elderly patient groups. This is the first book to examine a number of these evidence based interventions currently in use with older adults. The editors have assembled chapters developed in many of the leading clinical and clinical research programs focusing on elderly patients both in this country and in the UK. Since the emphasis of this volume is primarily on clinical application, each author group was asked to discuss the empirical data for the treatment strategies it is using with the specific patient group selected. Typically this was followed by a detailed description of treatment procedures that were then illustrated by one or more clinical examples. The book begins by examining the treatment of depressive and anxiety disorders and then moves on to more complicated and/or serious disorders including schizophrenia and other psychoses, suicidal behavior, personality disorders, bipolar disorders, dementia and complicated bereavement. A chapter on the problems and issues in training therapists to use evidence based interventions effectively is also included along with a chapter discussing the implications of Medicare policies and guidelines for service delivery.
