Approaches and Processes of Social Science Research Tshabangu, Icarbord, Ba', Stefano, Madondo, Silas Memory, 2020-12-18 For the social sciences the approach and processes in research are quite different The type of evidence that social scientists can collect is often very dependent on the method that has been used to gather the data The type of findings that can be discussed are often not straightforward at all and no easy comparison can be made with the natural sciences although this is not impossible The methodology in the social sciences has the same role as technology and lab techniques in the natural sciences as these need to be developed rapidly to account for the increasing complexity of the natural objects to be studied The methodologies in the social sciences need to go through an intense period of critique reflection and reformulation to consider the complexity of social issues under investigation Therefore the area of social sciences research and methodologies should continually be studied to advance the field
