Consuming Fictions Gail Turley Houston, 1994 In this remarkable study Gail Turley Houston examines the rich interplay of consumption as alimantal process medical entity psychological construct and economic practice in order to explore Charles Dickens s fictional representations of Victorian culture as he presents it in his novels Drawing from medical historical economic psychoanalytic and biographical materials from the Victorian period Houston anchors her work in the belief that if class and gender are fictional constructions real people s lives are affected in complex and coercive ways by such constructions Proceeding chronologically Houston traces particular patterns throughout ten of Dickens s major novels The Pickwick Papers Oliver Twist The Old Curiosity Shop Martin Chuzzlewit Dombey and Son David Copperfield Bleak House Little Dorrit Great Expectations and Our Mutual Friend Houston maintains that Victorian codes of behavior prescribed for gender and class regarding sexual and alimantal appetites were so extreme and complicated that numerous consequent eating disorders and related diseases developed Ideologies about consumption translated into medically defined consumptions such as anorexia Using anorexia and its etiology as representative of an underlying cultural dynamics of consumption Houston examines anorexia as a deep structure of the Victorian period Further consumption as economic process is reflected in the expansion of individual material desires at the expense of the designated body politic In other words extravagant consumption occurs in society only if certain groups usually consisting of lower class men and women and in Dickens s novels women in general are severely limited in their consumption To support her approach Houston turns to Rita Felski s Beyond Feminist Aesthetics agreeing with Felski s argument that it is necessary to recognize the complex dialectics that take place between the individual and society Not only does culture construct human beings but human beings also construct culture Felski s theory aids Houston in emphasizing that Dickens not only influenced but was also greatly influenced by the Victorian dynamics of consumption In fact Houston argues that while Dickens dismantles Victorian ideologies about class and hunger by demonstrating the unnaturalness of expecting one class to starve so that another might gluttonize he nevertheless accepts and perpetuates the Victorian identification of woman as the self sacrificing always nurturing angel in the house without need of nurture herself This extraordinary book will appeal to literary scholars as well as to scholars in the social sciences history humanistically oriented medicine and women s studies

Adapting Evidence-Based Eating Disorder Treatments for Novel Populations and Settings Christina C. Tortolani, Andrea B. Goldschmidt, Daniel Le Grange, 2020-11-16 This comprehensive text provides practical approaches to adapting empirically supported treatments for eating disorders for clinicians working with patients of diverse backgrounds and presentations or within non traditional treatment settings across levels of care The book describes empirically and clinically informed treatment adaptations that impact delivery of real world services for eating disorder patients and generate interest in testing adapted treatments in randomized controlled trials Featuring contributions from researchers and clinicians with expertise in developing delivering and testing interventions for eating disorders each chapter focuses on a specific population setting or training approach Practical applications are then illustrated through case examples and wisdom gleaned through the contributors own clinical studies and experiences Readers working with a diverse population of eating disorder patients will gain the necessary skills to support their patients on the journey to recovery and self acceptance

The Strange History of Suzanne LaFleshe and Other Stories of Women and Fatness Susan Koppelman, 2003 Spanning a century from Kate Chopin and Fannie Hurst to J California Cooper and Elana Dykewomon this bold and deeply satisfying anthology of women s stories explores women s relationships to and perceptions of their physical selves Addressing the peculiarities the pleasures and the shames of body politics these stories of bodies that refuse to be contained offer a variety of perspectives on fully inhabiting the flesh Whether celebrating bodies deemed transgressive or simply daring to acknowledge that such bodies exist these diverse literary representations of fatness render the excessive body brilliantly unapologetically visible Book jacket

Fat Talk Denise Martz, 2019-05-10 Women have unintentionally become their own worst enemies through their engagement in fat talk critical dialogue about one s own physical appearance and body snarking or criticism towards other women s bodies Not only does this harsh judgment pervade our psyches and

Novel Approaches to the Diagnosis and Treatment of Posttraumatic Stress Disorder Michael J. Roy, 2006 Post traumatic stress disorder PTSD is a common and disabling condition that often goes undiagnosed for years and even when the diagnosis is made treatment is frequently ineffective especially for combat veterans Cognitive behavioural therapy with imaginal exposure is considered first line treatment but many can not or will not engage in imaginal exposure which is not surprising since avoidance of reminders of the trauma is a defining feature of PTSD Novel technologies offer an alternative to facilitate exposure therapy through virtual reality VR This book outlines state of the art approaches to improving the diagnosis and treatment of PTSD with a particular emphasis on the promise and pitfalls associated with VR exposure therapy The world's leading experts in this cutting edge field describe their VR work in phobias and other mental disorders and chart a course for future studies to improve the diagnosis and treatment of PTSD

Reflections on Body Dysmorphic Disorder: Stories of Courage, Determination and Hope Nicole Schnackenberg Sergio Petro, 2016-11-09 With a Foreword by Professor Katharine Phillips and an Introduction by Professor David Veale and Doctor Rob Willson Body dysmorphic disorder BDD is characterised by a preoccupation with a perceived defect or defects in one's appearance These flaws are either unnoticeable to the outside eye or seen as nothing more than a normal physical variation To the person with BDD however the abhorred aspects of their appearance cause significant shame and distress Some hide away and become housebound sometimes for many years BDD affects males and females almost equally and has one of the highest suicide rates of any mental illness Despite the extreme suffering experienced by people with BDD it is possible to learn to cope with and even completely move beyond it The stories in this volume powerfully attest to this Gathered here are thirty six lived experiences of people with BDD and their loved ones They are stories of tremendous bravery immeasurable determination and incredible hope
