Côte d'Ivoire Caught in Cross Fire and Africa in Dire Straits. This book is a thorough analysis of the postelectoral crisis in Côte d'Ivoire in 2011 that led to an unprecedented and horrid manslaughter with the bombing of the country's infrastructures by French and UN troops who were sent to monitor the election. The helpers ended up destroying our country. Readers will discover the following: The international conspiracy that was planned by the West against Côte d'Ivoire against President Laurent Gbagbo, incumbent and Africa in general, rather than an election as many still think. It is the war over our oil and resources. This was nothing but the recolonization of Africa with Côte d'Ivoire as a base of experimentation.

Social Studies Barbara Slater Stern, 2013-09-27 First Published in 2002 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Academic Conversations Jeff Zwiers, Marie Crawford, 2011 Where would we be without conversation? Throughout history conversations have allowed us to see different perspectives, build ideas and solve problems. Conversations, particularly those referred to in this book as academic conversations, push students to think and learn in lasting ways. Academic conversations are back and forth dialogues in which students focus on a topic and explore it by building, challenging and negotiating relevant ideas. Unfortunately, academic conversations are rare in many classrooms. Talk is often dominated by the teacher and a few students or it does not advance beyond short responses to the teacher's questions. Even certain teaching approaches and curriculum programs neglect to train students how to maintain a focused, respectful and thoughtful conversation. To address these challenges, authors Jeff Zwiers and Marie Crawford have identified five core communication skills to help students hold productive academic conversations across content areas. These skills include: elaborating and clarifying, supporting ideas with evidence, building on and/or challenging ideas, paraphrasing and synthesizing. This book shows teachers how to weave the cultivation of academic conversation skills and conversations into current teaching approaches. More specifically, it describes how to use conversations to build the following: Academic vocabulary and grammar, Critical thinking skills such as persuasion, interpretation, consideration of multiple perspectives, evaluation and application, Literacy skills such as questioning, predicting, connecting to prior knowledge and summarizing. Complex and abstract essential understandings in content areas such as adaptation, human nature, bias, conservation of mass, energy, gravity, irony, democracy, greed and more. An academic classroom environment brimming with respect for others' ideas, equity of voice, engagement and mutual support. The ideas in this book stem from many hours of classroom practice, research and video analysis across grade levels and content areas. Readers will find numerous practical activities for working on each conversation skill, crafting conversation-worthy tasks and using conversations to teach and assess. Academic Conversations offers an in-depth approach to helping students develop into the future parents, teachers and leaders who will collaborate to build a better world.
