Winning Francesco Duina, 2013-08-25 Why winning doesn t always lead to happiness Most of us are taught from a young age to be winners and avoid being losers But what does it mean to win or lose And why do we care so much Does winning make us happy Winning undertakes an unprecedented investigation of winning and losing in American society what we are really after as we struggle to win our collective beliefs about winners and losers and much more Francesco Duina argues that victory and loss are not endpoints or final destinations but gateways to something of immense importance to us the affirmation of our place in the world But Duina also shows that competition is unlikely to provide us with the answers we need Winning and losing are artificial and logically flawed concepts that put us at odds with the world around us and ultimately ourselves Duina explores the social and psychological effects of the language of competition in American culture Primarily concerned with our shared obsessions about winning and losing Winning proposes a new mind set for how we can pursue our dreams and in a more satisfying way find our proper place in the world

Catastrophic Incentives Jeff Schlegelmilch, Ellen Carlin, 2023-10-03 Silver Award Winner 2024 Nonfiction Book Awards Societies are vulnerable to any number of potential disasters: earthquakes, hurricanes, infectious diseases, terrorist attacks, and many others. Even though the dangers are often clear, there is a persistent pattern of inadequate preparation and a failure to learn from experience. Before disasters, institutions pay insufficient attention to risk; in the aftermath, even when the lack of preparation led to a flawed response, the focus shifts to patching holes instead of addressing the underlying problems. Examining twenty years of disasters from 9/11 to COVID-19, Jeff Schlegelmilch and Ellen Carlin show how flawed incentive structures make the world more vulnerable when catastrophe strikes. They explore how governments, the private sector, nonprofits, and academia behave before, during, and after crises, arguing that standard operational and business models have produced dysfunction. Catastrophic Incentives reveals troubling patterns about what does and does not matter to the institutions that are responsible for dealing with disasters. The short-termism of electoral politics and corporate decision making, the funding structure of nonprofits, and the institutional dynamics shaping academic research have all contributed to a failure to build resilience. Offering a comprehensive and incisive look at disaster governance, Catastrophic Incentives provides timely recommendations for reimagining systems and institutions so that they are better equipped to manage twenty-first century threats. Aging, 1988
