Expert Consensus in Science Anthony Jorm, 2024-12-13 This Open Access book shows how expert consensus pervades all areas of science It explores in particular the role of consensus in establishing scientific truth in guiding professional practice and policy and agreeing on what are acceptable scientific methodologies For some scientific issues a consensus forms spontaneously among scientists working on a topic while for others where the issues are complex a formal deliberative consensus process is commonly needed Deliberative consensus processes are becoming more important as scientists increasingly deal with complex multi disciplinary issues of policy importance such as climate change due to human activity While deliberative consensus processes are commonly used they often lead to criticism from consensus skeptics The book argues that deliberative consensus processes in science can be improved and proposes a number of realistic ways forward ending with a discussion of whether communicating the scientific consensus on a topic is a good way to persuade the public

Doing Public Ethnography

Phillip Vannini, 2018-07-18 Ethnography and qualitative research methodology in general have witnessed a staggering proliferation of styles and genres over the last three decades. Modes and channels of communication have similarly expanded and diversified. Now ethnographers have the opportunity to disseminate their work not only through traditional writing but also through aural, visual, performative, hypertext, and many diverse and creative multimodal documentation strategies. Yet many ethnographers still feel insufficiently proficient with these new literacies and opportunities for knowledge mobilization and they therefore still limit themselves to traditional modes of communication in spite of their desire for innovation. As university-based, community-driven and politically mandated agendas for broader knowledge transfer keep increasing worldwide, the demand for public scholarship continues to grow. Arguing for the need to disseminate innovative ethnographic knowledge more widely and more effectively, this book outlines practical strategies and tools for sharing ethnographic and qualitative research through widely accessible media such as magazines, trade books, blogs, newspapers, video, radio, and social media. Drawing from practical experiences and hands-on lessons, Doing Public Ethnography provides social scientists across all disciplines with concrete tactics for mobilizing knowledge beyond the academic realm.

Becoming a Writing Researcher

Ann Blakeslee, Cathy Fleischer, 2019-07-08 Becoming a Writing Researcher effectively guides students through the stages of conducting qualitative writing research from the initial step of seeing themselves as researchers to identifying research questions, selecting appropriate methodological tools, conducting the research, and interpreting and reporting findings. Exercises and activities as well as anecdotes and examples from both novice and seasoned researchers serve to acquaint readers thoroughly with the practice of carrying out research for scholarly or professional purposes. This second edition introduces students to research methods in a gradual and contextualized manner. Each chapter offers a discussion of a particular portion of the research process followed by consideration of physical, conceptual, and strategic tools that allow a master's level researcher to conduct that part of the research. Sections within each chapter also cover issues of stance and positionality that impact the researcher and the resulting research. Becoming a Writing Researcher second edition is an essential text for all novice researchers and is particularly well suited for use in graduate level research methods courses in writing studies and technical communications. It is also ideal for use in other disciplines with strong qualitative methodology research programs including education.

Expanding Approaches to Thematic Analysis Jennifer R. Wolgemuth, Kelly W. Guyotte, Stephanie Anne Shelton, 2024-08-01. Expanding Approaches to Thematic Analysis: Creative Engagements with Qualitative Data introduces readers into a world where generating themes from qualitative data is a creative, experimental, and wondrous process. While no one ever said it had to be, thematic analysis is invariably described as a step-by-step process that involves coding. Yet qualitative data analysis is more than a technical procedure; it invokes imagination and inspiration, intuitional engagements that are as vital to the data analysis process as they are difficult to describe. This edited book begins with two premises: 1. there is more than one way to theme data, and 2. qualitative researchers do not have to code to get to themes. Each chapter introduces readers to a different approach to thematic analysis, explores that approach's theoretical and disciplinary roots, and illustrates how that approach can be used to generate themes. Approaches include annotating, memoing, storying, writing, composing, poems, artmaking, meditating, and more. Expanding conceptualizations of what themes and thematic analysis can be. The book also includes methodologies in action, helpful examples of creative theming from doctoral students and early career scholars. This book is as much a provocation for engaging thematic analysis beyond without, in addition to coding, as it is a resource for anyone interested in the rationale, justification, and examples for doing so. As such, it is a source of inspiration for any qualitative student researcher and scholar who wishes to expand their repertoire of approaches to thematic analysis.

Resources in Education, 1999. Support for the conceptual design stage of effective and resource-efficient offerings Sergio Brambila, 2020-10-20. Human activities in the form of production and consumption have increased to an all-time high. In many cases, this increase has resulted in environmental problems such as waste and pollution that in turn affect our health and way of living. Societies have proposed different measures to address such environmental problems. These range from different waste treatment technologies to alternative business models, policy measures, and lifecycle thinking in the design of products to mention but a few. In this research, the focus is on supporting early design activities of what is often called the conceptual design stage, with the objective to provide effective and resource-efficient offerings. The early design activities considered here are planning, analysis, and evaluation. Design researchers have largely supported these three activities with a variety of methods and tools. However, previous research has shown that design support coming from academia has had a low uptake in industry. In this regard, the aim of this research is to propose not only useful but also usable support for design practitioners during the conceptual design stage. This research is carried out in the manufacturing sector in Sweden, where selected companies expressed an interest in collaborating with academia to address more thoroughly effective and resource-efficient offerings. To better match company needs and research from academia, this research took a pragmatic and cross-disciplinary approach. This research approach, along with literature reviews, semi-structured interviews, workshops and questionnaires shows different ways in which support can be made more useful and usable. The main gap addressed here is that the knowledge and the related skills of the user of the support have not been sufficiently explored. The results include requirements of the user of the support, proposed methods and tools derived from the requirements identified and most importantly the knowledge and skills needed by the user of the support. The main message of this research is that support could be expanded from methods and tools to include knowledge and skills needed by design practitioners, the users of support. The flow of support from academia to industry could also be reinforced in a two way flow through a pragmatic and cross disciplinary approach to first and foremost address design practitioners needs.

Månskliga aktiviteter i form av produktion och konsumtion har aldrig varit högre. Denna kning ver tid har i många fall lett till miljöproblem som avfall och föroreningar vilka i sin tur påverkar vår hälsa och levnadssätt. För att mota dessa miljöproblem har olika tekniker för avfallshantering, alternativa affärsmodeller, policy och livscykel design för att minska negativa fokus i forskningen som presenteras i denna avhandling. Tidiga designaktiviteter vilka ofta kallas det konceptuella designstadiet och som syftar till att ta fram resurseffektiva erbjudanden. Detta steg behandlas här genom att närmare undersöka designaktiviteterna, planering, analys och utvärdering. Designforskare har till stor del ställt dessa tre aktiviteter med en mängd olika metoder och verktyg. Emellertid visar tidigare forskning att designstadiet från akademin har ett lågt upptag i industrin. Syftet med denna forskning är därför att föreslå ett användbart stadium som också är användarvänligt för utvärdering under det konceptuella designstadiet. För att uppnå detta genomförs forskningen inom tillverkningssektorn i Sverige där deltagande förtag uttryckt ett intresse av att samarbeta med akademin avseende resurseffektiva erbjudanden. För att bättre matcha företagens behov med forskning från akademin antas en pragmatisk och tvärvetenskaplig strategi. Denna strategi tillsammans med litteratur, semistrukturerade intervjuer, workshops och enkäter visar hur stadiet i det konceptuella designstadiet kan bli mer användbart och användarvänligt. Den huvudsakliga forskningsluckan som tas upp här är att kunskap och relaterade fördigheter hos användaren av stadiet inte har undersökts tillräckligt. Resultatet ger en beskrivning av kraven på de stadiet som användaren behöver föreslå på metoder och verktyg som baseras på de identifierade kraven och viktigast av allt den kunskap och de fördigheter som användaren av stadiet behöver ha. Huvudbudskapet är att stadiet kan utvidgas från att omfatta metoder och verktyg till att även inkludera behovet av kunskap och fördigheter hos designutvärderaren. Det vill säga användarna av supporten. Stadiet från den akademiska världen till industrin kan också förstärkas genom att bli ett tvärgående som med en pragmatisk och tvärvetenskaplig strategi först och främst adresserar användarens behov.
