How to Control Your Mind Like a Car Instead of a Rollercoaster Marcellus Stanley, 2018-12-28 At times we all may get a little frustrated with our minds and how we think Sometimes you may feel your thoughts are controlling you instead of you being in control of your thoughts This book can help you to see how you can be more empowered to take control of your mind and thinking It helps you to understand that if you can learn to drive and control a car then you can use those same skills to be in more control of your mind and your life In my own unconventional way I want you to know that every time you get behind the wheel of your car that you are in control The same way that you and controlling that car you can do the same by your controlling your mind instead of letting it go like a rollercoaster Let's face it we are all on a journey and it depends on what transportation you use and the roads you take that will determine the adventures that you experience along the way Since life is full of ups and downs and unexpected twists and turns it's important that we take time to learn how to best navigate it My goal is to give you a few life hacks that may very well show you some better ways to help navigate and control your mind through this journey of life like you would a car instead of letting it go like a rollercoaster

Tracking Truth Sherrilyn Roush, 2005-11-10 Tracking Truth presents a unified treatment of knowledge evidence and epistemological realism and anti realism about scientific theories A wide range of knowledge related phenomena especially but not only in science strongly favour the idea of tracking as the key to what makes something knowledge A subject who tracks the truth an idea first formulated by Robert Nozick has the ability to follow the truth through time and changing circumstances Epistemologists rightly concluded that Nozick's theory was not viable but a simple revision of that view is not only viable but superior to other current views In this new tracking account of knowledge in contrast to the old view knowledge has the property of closure under known implication and troublesome counterfactuals are replaced with well defined conditional probability statements Of particular interest are the new view's treatment of skepticism reflective knowledge lottery propositions knowledge of logical truth and the question why knowledge is power in the Baconian sense Ideally evidence indicates a hypothesis and discriminates it from other possible hypotheses This is the idea behind a tracking view of evidence and Sherrilyn Roush provides a defence of a confirmation theory based on the Likelihood Ratio The accounts of knowledge and evidence she offers provide a deep and seamless explanation of why having better evidence makes one more likely to have knowledge Roush approaches the question of epistemological realism about scientific theories through the question what is required for evidence and rejects both traditional realist and traditional anti realist positions in favour of a new position which evaluates realist claims in a piecemeal fashion according to a general standard of evidence The results show that while anti realists were immodest in declaring a priori what science could not do realists were excessively sanguine about how far our actual evidence has so far taken us
