Marketing Issues in Transitional Economies Rajeev Batra, 1999-08-31 As the markets in transitional economies open and grow major challenges and opportunities arise for multinational firms entering these markets local firms facing these new competitors and policymakers seeking to increase the ability of all firms to compete fairly and efficiently Yet despite the important questions transition economies pose for policymakers and companies seeking to enter and compete in these new markets there has been a relative absence of systematic research on these concerns This book seeks to fill a gap in the existing literature by offering a pioneering and comprehensive examination of issues that have developed as markets in transitional economies become more deregulated and open The countries discussed include China the Czech Republic Hungary India Poland Romania Russia South Africa and South Korea The topics covered are divided into five main sections and the individual chapters are written by some of the world's leading academic experts on these issues. Most of the authors draw from freshly collected data in new studies of consumers and/or firms in transitional economies. After an opening section which discusses the marketing issues and challenges multinational and local firms face in transitional economies, the next three sections offer detailed treatments of changing consumer behavior, measuring and improving the marketing orientation of firms, and implementing and managing distribution channels. The fifth and final section is devoted to firm strategies and tactics examined variously from the perspective of multinational firms entering these new markets, from the viewpoint of existing local firms facing new competitive challenges from global entrants, and from the perspective of local firms seeking to establish themselves in foreign markets where they have not previously competed. Most of the individual chapters are revised versions of papers originally presented at a conference sponsored by the William Davidson Institute which focuses on research related to emerging and transitional economies and have not previously appeared in published form. Thus the book is a unique collection of cutting edge scholarship on the various aspects of marketing in transitional economies. It will prove valuable reading to academics, policymakers, and international business strategists. Brand Competition and Consumer

Preference of the Chinese Home Appliance Markets (1) MIC Research Team, 2016-08-01 Using big data analytics, this research covers top Chinese home appliance brands including LCD TV, refrigerator, washing machine, and air conditioner with following analysis dimensions: brand ranking by the number of items available, online stores ranking by sales number, number of times online users mention about a particular brand, brand preferences, factors affecting purchase, as well as online shoppers' comments and user analysis. All those dimensions help build a massive social media database which can more accurately reflect consumer needs in China. Consumer Behaviour And Branding: Concepts, Readings And Cases-The Indian

Context S. Ramesh Kumar, 2009-09 India is one of the emerging markets that pose a unique set of challenges to marketers. The importance of the context and the usefulness of concepts in the Indian context is the core proposition of the book. The diversity of a mix of factors such as cultural aspects, lifestyles, demographics, and unbranded offerings make consumer behaviour a fascinating study. This book focuses on the behavioural principles of marketing and its application to branding in the Indian context. Consumer behaviour concepts associated with branding. A combination of recent and traditional examples reflecting the application of behavioural concepts. Touch of reality boxes to indicate context-based examples. Caselets and cases drawn from real life situations. Research findings associated with the Indian context. Topical issues in consumer behaviour like cultural aspects, digital marketing, and experiential branding. Evangelist Marketing Alex L.

Goldfayn, 2012-01-03 In Evangelist Marketing Alex Goldfayn argues that technology companies succeed in spite of their marketing, not because of it. He says that if consumer tech makers ceased all marketing activity today, they would not see a significant decline in sales. In this book, Alex presents why the current state of overly technical, features-oriented tech marketing, branding, communications, and public relations is costing the industry billions of dollars' easy money that's voluntarily being left on the table Then he lays out a step by step system for creating intensely loyal brand evangelists based on deep consumer insights and simple emotional language Evangelist Marketing is written for consumer tech companies big and small from PC manufacturers to Web based services It s also sure to improve the work of their marketing and public relations agencies Consumer Protection United States.
