Constructing the Outbreak Katherine A.

Foss,2020-09-25 When an epidemic strikes media outlets are central to how an outbreak is framed and understood While reporters construct stories intended to inform the public and convey essential information from doctors and politicians news narratives also serve as historical records capturing sentiments responses and fears throughout the course of the epidemic Constructing the Outbreak demonstrates how news reporting on epidemics communicates more than just information about pathogens rather prejudices political agendas religious beliefs and theories of disease also shape the message Analyzing seven epidemics spanning more than two hundred years from Boston s smallpox epidemic and Philadelphia s yellow fever epidemic in the eighteenth century to outbreaks of diphtheria influenza and typhoid in the early twentieth century Katherine A Foss discusses how shifts in journalism and medicine influenced the coverage preservation and fictionalization of different disease outbreaks Each case study highlights facets of this interplay delving into topics such as colonization tourism war and politics Through this investigation into what has been preserved and forgotten in the collective memory of disease Foss sheds light on current health care debates like vaccine hesitancy

Assessment for

Learning Paul Black,Chris Harrison,Clara Lee,Bethan Marshall,Dylan Wiliam,2003-09-16 This is a surprising and welcome

book a heartening read that shows the power of assessment for learning and the potential for academics and teachers jointly to put into practice ideas that can improve classroom learning and teaching TES The starting point of this book was the realisation that research studies worldwide provide hard evidence that development of formative assessment raises students test scores The significant improvement in the achievements of the students in this project confirms this research while providing teachers teacher trainers school heads and others leaders with ideas and advice for improving formative assessment in the classroom Assessment for Learning is based on a two year project involving thirty six teachers in schools in Medway and Oxfordshire After a brief review of the research background and of the project itself successive chapters describe the specific practices which teachers found fruitful and the underlying ideas about learning that these developments illustrate Later chapters discuss the problems that teachers encountered when implementing the new practices in their classroom and give guidance for school management and LEAs about promoting and supporting the changes This book offers valuable insights into assessment for learning as teachers describe in their own words how they turned the ideas into practical action in their schools
