Roa Romero,2013-10-01 The general theme of MEDICON 2013 is Research and Development of Technology for Sustainable Healthcare This decade is being characterized by the appearance and use of emergent technologies under development This situation has produced a tremendous impact on Medicine and Biology from which it is expected an unparalleled evolution in these disciplines towards novel concept and practices The consequence will be a significant improvement in health care and well fare i e the shift from a reactive medicine to a preventive medicine This shift implies that the citizen will play an important role in the healthcare delivery process what requires a comprehensive and personalized assistance In this context society will meet emerging media incorporated to all objects capable of providing a seamless adaptive anticipatory unobtrusive and pervasive assistance The challenge will be to remove current barriers related to the lack of knowledge required to produce new opportunities for all the society while new paradigms are created for this inclusive society to be socially and economically sustainable and respectful with the environment In this way these proceedings focus on the convergence of biomedical engineering topics ranging from formalized theory through experimental science and technological development to practical clinical applications

The lower Krishna Basin trajectory: relationships between basin development and downstream environmental degradation. ,2008 Basin water development and rural dynamics in the Krishna Basin have led to a degradation of downstream ecosystems manifesting itself by salinizing soil and groundwater increasing pollution disappearing mangroves and desiccating wetlands Reversing this evolution requires the formal recognition of the environment as a water user in its own right and the implementation of an environmental water provision This provision should be based on a two tier allocation system with assured discharges in the irrigation canals of the delta and to the ocean This will lead to further commitment of water resources but this is needed to reconcile the social economic and environmental objectives of a sustainable development Other measures facilitating integrated natural resources management from the local to the basin level are needed too

Business Process Management Workshops Stefanie Rinderle-Ma,Shazia Sadiq, Frank Leymann,2010-04-01 Business process management BPM constitutes one of the most exciting search areas in computer science and the BPM Conference together with its workshops provides a distinct platform for presenting the latest research and showing future directions in this area These proceedings contain the nal v sions of papers accepted for the workshops held in conjunction with the 7th International Conference on Business Process Management BPM 2009 The BPM 2009 conference and workshops took place in Ulm Germany We received many interesting workshop proposals eight of which were selected Ultimately the workshops ran on September 7 2009 featuring highly interesting keynotes inspiring scientific presentations and fruitful discussions The history of five years of BPM workshops in a row proves the continued success of the workshop program The workshopsheldin2009includedonenewworkshoponempiricalresearch in business process management and seven well established workshops First International Workshop on Empirical Research in Business Process Management ER BPM 2009 The ER BPM 2009 workshop addressed the demand for empirical research methods such as experimental or case studies to BPM and invited fellow colleagues to investigate both the potential and the limitations of BPM methods and technologies in practice The ER BPM workshop aimed at closing the gap in knowledge on process management and at discussing empirical research in the space of BPM and associated phenomena 12th International Workshop on Reference Modeling RefMod 2009 Although conceptual models have proven to be a useful means to support information systems engineering in the past few years creating and especially maintaining conceptual models can be quite challenging and costly

Multi-Hazard Early Warning and Disaster Risks Dilanthi Amaratunga, Richard Haigh, Nuwan Dias, 2021-09-11 This book presents a collection of papers under the theme of multi hazard early warning and disaster risks These were selected from the presentations made at the International Symposium on Tsunami and Multi Hazard Risks Early Warning and Community Awareness in supporting implementation of the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction 2015 2030 This conference aimed to recognize achievements and to highlight work that still needs to be carried out The conference promoted collaboration among academia research institutions and disaster management offices and further encouraged multidisciplinary and multi sectoral interaction This International Symposium on Multi Hazard Early Warning and Disaster Risk Reduction provided an important opportunity to reflect upon our progress to date in tackling disaster risk but also to consider some of the challenges and opportunities that lay ahead of us A particular focus of this event was Multi Hazard Early Warning During the negotiations for the Sendai Framework countries and partners highlighted the need to 1 Continue to invest in develop maintain and strengthen people centred end to end early warning systems 2 Promote the application of simple and low cost early warning equipment and facilities 3 Broaden the dissemination channels for early warning information to facilitate early action Countries also called for the further development of and investment in effective nationally compatible regional multi hazard early warning mechanisms To address these needs global Target g of the Sendai Framework was adopted namely to substantially increase the availability of and access to multi hazard early warning systems and disaster risk information and assessments to the people by 2030 As illustrated by recent events in Indonesia it is also vital to address the challenge of cascading hazards that pose a tsunami risk and the importance of linking tsunami early warning to a multi hazard environment However moving towards a multi hazard environment is complex and poses many challenges but can bring significant benefits in terms of efficiencies and also in recognising the links between hazards such as cascading threats We very much hope that this book will provide an important platform to address these and other challenges in addressing disaster risk as well as supporting implementation of the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction
