Environmental Issues & Sustainability Chaitanya Srivastava, The book Environmental Issues Sustainability by Chaitanya Srivastava provides concepts and methodologies for solving numerous problems in climatic change forest destruction contamination and loss of species It asserts the stewardship concept whereby resources should be used in the present but must lead to both total present and future resource availability The poems and stories used in the anthology are all revelatory of the detrimental effects of man to the environment inspiring respect for its natural beauty When people create personal responsibility or a sense of getting close to the earth than feeling distant individuals will help in formation of sustainability The text emphasizes the need and possibility of environmental conservation through call for action in actual practice for instance planting trees conserving water and checking pollution With regard to the impact it demands environmental education in order to foster responsible behaviours among children to make them guardians of the world

The Transnationalized Social Question Thomas Faist, 2018-11-30 The social question is back Yet today s social question is not primarily between labour and capital as it was in the nineteenth century and throughout much of the twentieth The contemporary social question is located at the interstices between the global South and the global North It finds its expression in movements of people seeking a better life or fleeing unsustainable social political economic and ecological conditions It is transnationalized not only because migrants and their significant others entertain ties across the borders of national states staying in touch with family and friends receiving or sending financial remittances in transnational social spaces Also of importance are cross border recruitment schemes for workers and the cross border diffusion of norms appealed to in the case of migration for example the social right to decent work as a human right Moreover migration can become an issue of inclusion or exclusion in fields important to life chances in the emigration transit or immigration states a transnationalization of national states And as in the nineteenth century political conflicts arise constituting the social question as a public concern In earlier periods class differences dominated conflicts While class has always been criss crossed by manifold heterogeneities not least of all cultural ones around ethnicity religion and language it is these latter heterogeneities that have sharpened in situations of immigration and emigration over the past decades Casting a wide net in terms of conceptual and empirical scope this book tackles both the social structure and the politics of social inequalities It sets a comprehensive agenda for research which also includes the public role of social scientists in dealing with the transnationalized social question

Hopkins, Sohair Mehanna, Salah el- Haggag, 2001 Environmental pollution is a concern of many people in Egypt and the world in general People and Pollution is a study of how Egyptians in particular understand environmental problems and what their roles are in the solutions This original study is based on extensive field research with both academic and policy relevance The uniqueness of the book comes from its focus instead of the usual approach of analyzing policy and measurements this text seeks to understand how the people themselves often the objects of policy understand their environment and their own actions An interesting finding from the research lies in the focus of Egyptian concerns Rather than the global perspective the depletion of the ozone layer protection of coral reefs and rainforests and so on that is common in the West Egyptians are mainly concerned with matters of immediate environmental degradation such as garbage sewage dirty streets and noise pollution In addition the researchers have found that people are often able to effect changes themselves through cooperation with neighbors thus bypassing the official channels of redress such as NGOs and local government officials The difference in focus of concern and courses of action may be extrapolated to many Third World or developing nations and leads to provocative questions regarding policymaking for public participation in future environmental campaigns Descriptive views from the authors eloquent and moving testimony from members of the community and clear statistical analysis of the findings make this book a highly readable text People and Pollution is a pioneering and important work that should be consulted by environmentally concerned readers students and policymakers alike
