aftermath or afterlives of violent events in contexts of law justice community and identity Her analysis of the social repercussions is both global and local in scope Arif examines the convictions made in the Special Court of Sierra Leone the first hybrid court of its nature under international criminal law Next she explores the making of a justice movement in the context of Hindu Muslim violence in 2002 in the state of Gujarat India From there she revisits the Sikh carnage in Delhi of 1984 Finally she explores a span of civil violence in Lebanon and particularly its effects on the city of Beirut This rigorously argued book brings together the various strands of life and the social that each chapter has disentangled and in doing so it begins to frame a politics of and in life Athens and the War on Public Space Klara Jaya Brekke,Christos

Filippidis,Antonis Vradis,2018 Sometimes the maelstrom of a crisis can be captured in a single image The image of the mundane barely noticeable movement of an urban dweller as they go about their everyday life Athens and the War on Public Space commences from images just like this one collected over a two year period of research 2012 2014 in Athens during a time of severe financial and political crisis For the author curators of this volume public space became a light sensitive surface upon which they could begin to map the material imprints of the most structural and violent characteristics of the crisis and their research spread in different directions tracking the role of infrastructure and the shifts the financial crisis brought about upon built environments the violent manifestations of the official anti migrant policy the rise of racism the imposition of the emergency upon public space and the phenomenology of mass transit Helping Familiar Strangers

Louise Olliff,2022-12-06 Who helps in situations of forced displacement How and why do they get involved In Helping Familiar Strangers Louise Olliff focuses on one type of humanitarian group refugee diaspora organizations RDOs to explore the complicated impulses practices and relationships between these activists and the familiar strangers they try to help By documenting findings from ethnographic research and interviews with resettled and displaced persons RDO representatives and humanitarian professionals in Australia Switzerland Thailand and Indonesia Olliff reveals that former refugees are actively involved in helping people in situations of forced displacement and that individuals with lived experience of forced displacement have valuable knowledge skills and networks that can be drawn on in times of humanitarian crisis We live in a world where humanitarians have varying motivations capacities and ways of helping those in need and Helping Familiar Strangers confirms that RDOs and similar groups are an important part of the tapestry of care that people turn to when seeking protection far from home New Philanthropy and Social Justice Behrooz Morvaridi,2016-07-20 Over the past twenty years wealthy individuals and private corporations have become increasingly involved in philanthropy often by establishing foundations targeted at helping to reduce poverty disease and other social problems But as the essays in this interdisciplinary volume show this new philanthropy does not provide a long term solution because it fails to tackle social injustice or the structural reasons for inequality Placing this discussion in a global context this far reaching book questions the political and ideological reasons why rich individuals and companies engage in poverty reduction through philanthropy and suggests that the new philanthropy and social justice debate extends far beyond national boundaries The Adoption Plan Jack Neubauer, 2025-03-18 During the tumultuous years of World War II and the Cold War new global humanitarian ideas and practices coalesced around the cause of saving the children in China How did China's children become archetypal victims who ignited a new global humanitarian imagination And who would prevail in the transnational contest to control the vast quantities of aid flowing into China on their behalf The Adoption Plan offers a new history of the rise of global humanitarianism that places the recipients administrators and critics of humanitarian aid in China at the center of the story Analyzing how the adoption plan for international child sponsorship became one of the most popular fundraising strategies for humanitarian work in China and across the world Jack Neubauer explores how the globalization of humanitarian aid was linked to new practices of global intimacy that enabled donors to build personal relationships with Chinese children across geographic and cultural divides Drawing on hundreds of letters written by Chinese children to foreign sponsors and extensive research in Chinese archives Neubauer shows how China's Nationalist and Communist parties mobilized the emotional bonds between children and sponsors to secure international support for their competing political projects By the 1950s child sponsorship and international adoption had become the most hotly contested humanitarian programs in Cold War East Asia Upending the conventional view of humanitarianism as a tool of Western influence The Adoption Plan demonstrates that it was often the Chinese recipients of aid who were best able to control its material and ideological uses The Oxford Handbook of Humanism Anthony B. Fluri, 2019 Border walls shipwrecks in the Mediterranean separated families at the border island detention camps migration is at the centre of contemporary political and academic debates This ground breaking Handbook offers an exciting and original analysis of critical research on themes such as these drawing on cutting edge theories from an interdisciplinary and international group of leading scholars With a focus on spatial analysis and geographical context this volume highlights a range of theoretical methodological and regional approaches to migration research while remaining attuned to the underlying politics that bring critical scholars together

Post-Backlash Human Rights Law Sanja Dragić, 2022-10-24 What are the legal consequences of the political phenomenon of human rights backlash After providing a novel definition of the phenomenon Sanja Dragić explores some of the rules generated as a reaction to the backlash the post backlash human rights law Three case studies meticulously analyze the legal conversations between the opposing states and the global human rights community before the new rules appeared on the international scene The picture that emerges from these insights is of an unequal relationship between the opposing sides and the post backlash law which sustains the afflicted structure

Religious Humanitarianism during the World Wars, 1914-1945 Patrick J. Houlihan, 2024-06-30 The history of modern war has focused on destruction however practices of saving lives and rebuilding societies have received far less scrutiny The world wars reconfigured geopolitics on a sacred secular spectrum dominated by the USA and the USSR In these events the motivations of humanitarian actors are disputed as either secular or religious evoking approval or censure Although modern global humanitarianism emerged during the world wars it is often studied in a Euro centric framework that does not engage the conflicts globality The effects of humanitarianism during the Second World War look toward the post 1945 era with not enough reflection on the pre 1945 history of humanitarianism Thus what is needed is a critical history beyond moralizing bringing synchronic and diachronic expansion to study questions of continuity and change A global history of religious humanitarianism during both world wars places faith based humanitarianism on a spectrum of belief and unbelief

The Starving Empire Yan Slobodkin, 2023-11-15 The Starving Empire traces the history of famine in the modern French Empire showing that hunger is intensely local and sweepingly global shaped by regional contexts and the transnational interplay of ideas and policies all at once By integrating food crises in Algeria West and Equatorial Africa and Vietnam into a broader story of imperial and transnational care Yan Slobodkin reveals how the French colonial state and an emerging international community took increasing responsibility for subsistence but ultimately failed to fulfill this responsibility Europeans once dismissed colonial famines as acts of god misfortunes of nature and the inevitable consequences of backward races living in harsh environments But as Slobodkin recounts drawing on archival research from four continents the twentieth century saw transformations in nutrition scientific racism and international humanitarianism that profoundly altered ideas of what colonialism could accomplish A new confidence in the ability to mitigate hunger coupled with new norms of moral responsibility marked a turning point in the French Empire's relationship to colonial subjects and to nature itself Increasingly sophisticated understandings of famine as a technical problem subject to state control saddled France with untenable obligations The Starving Empire not only illustrates how the painful history of colonial famine remains with us in our current understandings of public health state sovereignty and international aid but also seeks to return food this most basic of human needs to its central place in the formation of modern political obligation and humanitarian ethics

Blurring Boundaries: Human Security and Forced Migration Stefan Salomon, Lisa Heschl, Gerd Oberleitner, Wolfgang Benedek, 2017-06-12 In Blurring Boundaries Human Security and Forced Migration scholars from law and social sciences offer a fresh view on the major issues of forced migration through the lens of human security Although much scholarship engages with forced migration and human security independently they have hardly been weaved together in a comprehensive manner The contributions cover the issues of refugee law maritime migration human smuggling and trafficking and environmental migration Blurring Boundaries critically engages boundaries produced in the law with the main ideas of human security thus providing a much needed novel vocabulary for a critical discourse in forced migration studies Sigmund Freud as a Critical Social Theorist, 2024-12-02

Sigmund Freud's work has influenced the modern world in many profound ways The father of psychoanalysis Freud wrote numerous works wherein his psychoanalytic perspectives were applied to history society religion and other cultural phenomenon By expanding his psychoanalytic theories into these realms Freud insured his place within the disciplines of philosophy sociology history theology and religious studies wherein his works are still studied More specifically his psychoanalytic theories were adopted revised and expanded upon by philosophers and sociologists such as Theodor W Adorno Erich Fromm Herbert Marcuse Jürgen Habermas Jacques Derrida Julia Kristeva Gilles Deleuze Judith Butler Slavoj Žižek and many others who in some cases radicalized the latent political content within Freud's thought using it to critique modern industrialized capitalism and theorize about the possibility for alternative forms of societies more conducive towards mental health Although Freud is often marginalized or even denigrated we think there are still elements within the corpus of Freud's work that are valuable for both diagnosing social problems and addressing such problems psychoanalytically The book demonstrates the lasting relevancy of Freud's thought to a variety of disciplines as they diagnose a myriad of social issues Kierkegaard and Climate Catastrophe Isak Winkel Holm, 2023 This volume argues for the relevance of Kierkegaard's employment of the prophetic noir modelled after the prophetic books of the Hebrew Bible to understanding how to live in a time of climate change Christ and the Common Life Luke Bretherton, 2019-05-07 In Christ and the Common Life Luke Bretherton provides an introduction to historical and contemporary theological reflection on politics and opens up a compelling vision for a Christian commitment to democracy In dialogue with Scripture and various traditions Bretherton examines the dynamic relationship between who we are in relation to God and who we are as moral and political animals He addresses fundamental political questions about poverty and injustice forming a common life with strangers and handling power constructively And through his analysis of debates concerning among other things race class economics the environment and interfaith relations he develops an innovative political theology of democracy as a way through which Christians can speak and act faithfully within our current context Read as a whole or as stand alone chapters the book guides readers through the political landscape and identifies the primary vocabulary ideas and schools of thought that shape Christian reflection on politics in the West Ideal for the classroom Christ and the Common Life equips students to understand politics and its positive and negative role in fostering neighbor love Handbook on Humanitarianism and Inequality Silke Roth, Bandana Purkayastha, Tobias Denskus, 2024-02-12 This prescient Handbook examines how legacies of colonialism gender class and other markers of inequality intersect with contemporary humanitarianism at multiple levels
