work but also about the different approaches that literary theory offers. By making use of these they create new interpretations of the text that would not otherwise be possible. In your own reading and writing literary theory fosters new avenues into the text. It allows you to make informed comments about the language and form of literature but also about the core themes/concepts such as gender, sexuality, the self, race and class which a text might explore. Literary theory gives you an almost limitless number of texts to work into your own response, ensuring that your interpretation is truly original. This is why although literary theory can initially appear alienating and difficult it is something to get really excited about. Imagine you are standing in the centre of a circular room with a whole set of doors laid out around you. Each doorway opens on to a new and illuminating field of knowledge that can change how you think about what you have read perhaps in just a small way but also perhaps dramatically and irrevocably. You can open one door or many of them. The choice is yours. Put the knowledge you gain together with your own interpretation however and you have a unique and potentially fascinating response. Each chapter in Literary Theory: A Complete Introduction covers a key school of thought progressing to a point at which you'll have a full understanding of the range of responses and approaches available for textual interpretation. As well as focusing on such core areas as Marxism, Modernism, Postmodernism, Structuralism and Poststructuralism, this introduction brings in recent developments such as Eco and Ethical Criticism and Humanisms.

Rethinking Race and Identity in Contemporary British Fiction Sara Upstone, 2016-10-04. This book takes a post-racial approach to the representation of race in contemporary British fiction, re-imagining studies of race and British literature away from concerns with specific racial groups towards a more sophisticated analysis of the contribution of a broad post-racial British writing. Examining the work of writers from a wide range of diverse racial backgrounds, the book illustrates how contemporary British fiction rather than merely reflecting social norms is making a radical contribution towards the possible future of a positively multi-ethnic and post-racial Britain. This is developed by a strategic use of the realist form which becomes a utopian device as it provides readers with a reality beyond current circumstances yet one which is rooted within an identifiable world. Speaking to the specific contexts of British cultural politics and directly connecting with contemporary debates surrounding race and identity in Britain, the author engages with a wide range of both mainstream and neglected authors including Ian McEwan, Zadie Smith, Julian Barnes, John Lanchester, Alan Hollinghurst, Martin Amis, Jon McGregor, Andrea Levy, Bernardine Evaristo, Hanif Kureishi, Kazuo Ishiguro, Hari Kunzru, Nadeem Aslam, Meera Syal, Jackie Kay, Maggie Gee and Neil Gaiman. This cutting-edge volume explores how contemporary fiction is at the centre of re-thinking how we engage with the question of race in twenty-first century Britain.

Twenty-first-century fiction Daniel Lea, 2016-11-21. This book offers readings of five of the most interesting and original voices to have emerged in Britain since the millennium as they tackle the challenges of portraying the new century. Through close readings of the work of Ali Smith, Andrew O'Hagan, Tom McCarthy, Sarah Hall and Jon McGregor, Daniel Lea opens a window onto the formal and thematic concerns that characterise a literary landscape troubled by both familiar and unfamiliar predicaments These include questions about the meaning of humanness in an age of digital intercourse about the need for a return to authenticity in the wake of postmodernism and about the dislocation of self from the other under neoliberal individualism By relating its readings of these authors to the wider shifts in contemporary literary criticism this book offers in depth analysis of important landmarks of recent fiction and an introduction to the challenges of understanding the literature of our time

Cosmopolitan Novel Berthold Schoene,2009-06-23 While traditionally the novel has been seen as tracking the development of the nation state Schoene queries if globalisation might currently be prompting the emergence of a new sub genre of the novel that is adept at imagining global community The book introduces a new generation of contemporary British writers Rachel Cusk Kiran Desai Hari Kunzru Jon McGregor and David Mitchell whose work is read against that of established novelists Arundhati Roy James Kelman and Ian McEwan Each chapter explores a different theoretical key concept including glocality glomicity tour du monde connectivity and compearance Key Features Defines the new genre of the cosmopolitan novel by reading contemporary British fiction as responsive to new global socio economic formations Expands knowledge of world culture national identity literary creativity and political agency by introducing concepts from globalisation and cosmopolitan theory into literary studies Explores debates on Britishness and the contemporary with close reference to the fall of the Berlin Wall on 9 11 1989 and the World Trade Centre attacks on 11 9 2001 Introduces a new generation of British writers within a complex global context by drawing on Jean Luc Nancy s work on community and creative world formation

The Wounded Hero in Contemporary Fiction Susana Onega,Jean-Michel Ganteau,2018-04-27 The Wounded Hero in Contemporary Fiction tracks the emergence of a new type of physically and or spiritually wounded hero ine in contemporary fiction Editors Susana Onega and Jean Michel Ganteu bring together some of the top minds in the field to explore the paradoxical lives of these heroes that have embraced rather than overcome their suffering alienation and marginalisation as a form of self definition

Jeanette Winterson to less canonical texts by Nina Allan Jon McGregor and N Royle Chapters on romance elegy the ghost story and the state of the nation novel draw on a variety of theoretical approaches from the fields of trauma studies affect theory the ethics of alterity the ethics of care and the ethics of vulnerability among others Showcasing how the contemporary novel is the privileged site of the expression and performance of vulnerability and vulnerable form the volume broaches a poetics of vulnerability based on categories such as testimony loss unknowing temporal disarray and performance On top of providing a book length evocation of contemporary fictions of vulnerability and vulnerable form this volume contributes significantly to considerations of the importance of Trauma Studies to Contemporary Literature
