Prehistoric Society of East Anglia, 1914 Science, Empire and the European Exploration of the Pacific Tony Ballantyne, 2018-10-24 This collection of essays assesses the interrelationship between exploration empire building and science in the opening up of the Pacific Ocean by Europeans between the early 16th and mid 19th century It explores both the role of various sciences in enabling European imperial projects in the region and how the exploration of the Pacific in turn shaped emergent scientific disciplines and their claims to authority within Europe Drawing on a range of disciplines from the history of science to geography imperial history to literary criticism this volume examines the place of science in cross cultural encounters the history of cartography in Oceania shifting understandings of race and cultural difference in the Pacific and the place of ships books and instruments in the culture of science It reveals the exchanges and networks that connected British French Spanish and Russian scientific traditions even in the midst of imperial competition and the ways in which findings in diverse fields from cartography to zoology botany to anthropology were disseminated and crafted into an increasingly coherent image of the Pacific its resources peoples and histories This is a significant body of scholarship that offers many important insights for anthropologists and geographers as well as for historians of science and European imperialism Arp Eric Robertson, 2006-01-01 Examining major works in the light of recent critical and theoretical perspectives this book also considers the extent to which Arp's resistance to single reductive interpretations may be linked to his bilingual bicultural upbringing in Alsace and his experience of two world wars BOOK JACKET Dictionar Technic
