Life Or Something Like It:

Life, or something like it Shome Makhija, 2019-01-17 Rise above the storm and you will find sunshine An emotional journey of life love and everything else Life (Or Something Like It) at Mallard High Greg Martini, 2012-01-17 I don't yell at people I just shatter them emotionally and make them cry Meet Tony Calamari Freshman year at Mallard High does not begin well For one thing too many adults are telling him what to do and there are too many annoying kids he has to spend four more years with Like the last nine years weren't bad enough yes he's counting kindergarten If only he could ignore as many people as possible but no one will let him Which is just typical Then one day he finds himself assigned to a classroom where maybe just maybe he might begin to like high school in spite of himself Roger Ebert's Movie Yearbook 2003 Roger Ebert, 2002-12-02 Every single new Ebert review Roger Ebert's Movie Yearbook 2004 Roger Ebert, 2003 Featuring every review Ebert wrote from January 2001 to mid June 2003 this treasury also includes his essays interviews film festival reports and In Memoriams along with his famous star ratings Michael Haneke's Cinema Catherine Wheatley, 2009-01-01 Existing critical traditions fail to fully account for the impact of Austrian director and 2009 Cannes Palm d'Or winner Michael Haneke's films situated as they are between intellectual projects and popular entertainments In this first English language introduction to and critical analysis of his work each of Haneke's eight feature films are considered in detail Particular attention is given to what the author terms Michael Haneke's ethical cinema and the unique impact of these films upon their audiences Drawing on the moral philosophy of Immanuel Kant and Stanley Cavell Catherine Wheatley introduces a new way of marrying film and moral philosophy which explicitly examines the ethics of the film viewing experience Haneke's films offer the viewer great freedom whilst simultaneously imposing a considerable burden of responsibility How Haneke achieves this break with more conventional spectatorship models and what its far reaching implications are for film theory in general constitute the principal subject of this book Love or Something Like It Deirdre Shaw, 2009-04-14 A clear eyed emotionally honest debut about a thirtysomething woman forced to redefine her entire world after her young marriage falters Love or Something Like It proves we can grow up at any age When Lacey Brennan meets Toby a sweet and talented comedian she impulsively moves across the country to be with him in Los Angeles Lacey is unsure of what she is looking for out west love a new career an escape from her fractured family but is reassured when Toby proposes on her thirtieth birthday I was thirty and I finally knew what I was doing she says In California which Lacey calls the edge of the earth she has the giddy anticipatory feeling that anything can happen opportunity looms large and her life may yet turn out the way she wants it to But soon in her marriage with Toby from their awkward honeymoon in Paris to their desperate attempts to build careers Lacey knows that something is wrong Toby unemployed becomes a permanent fixture on the couch and things are no better at Lacey's TV job where a pit bull stalks her colleagues tyrannize her and her boss hits on her Meanwhile her twin brother has dropped off the face of the earth and Lacey begins to wonder whether she and Toby should start a family if she can't even figure out her own. It is only after Lacey has given up on both L.A. and love that she gets an unexpected shot at happiness. Rich with wry humor and wisdom, Deirdre Shaw's novel deftly portrays a relatable, unforgettable character in Lacey Brennan, who after a five-year quest for love and belonging, finds she must live in the moment in order to understand her past and face her future.

Your Movie Sucks Roger Ebert, 2007-03-01 A collection of some of the Pulitzer Prize-winning film critic's most scathing reviews from Alex Emma to the remake of Yours, Mine and Ours. From Roger's review of Deuce Bigalow: European Gigolo to stars The movie created a spot of controversy in February 2005. According to a story by Larry Carroll of MTV News, Rob Schneider took offense when Patrick Goldstein of the Los Angeles Times listed this year's Best Picture nominees and wrote that they were ignored, unloved, and turned down flat by most of the same studios that bankroll hundreds of sequels, including a follow-up to Deuce Bigalow: Male Gigolo, a film that was sadly overlooked at Oscar time because apparently nobody had the foresight to invent a category for Best Running Penis Joke Delivered by a Third Rate Comic. Schneider retaliated by attacking Goldstein in full-page ads in Daily Variety and the Hollywood Reporter. In an open letter to Goldstein, Schneider wrote, "Well, Mr. Goldstein, I decided to do some research to find out what awards you have won. I went online and found that you have won nothing. Absolutely nothing. No journalistic awards of any kind. Maybe you didn't win a Pulitzer Prize because they haven't invented a category for Best Third Rate Unfunny Pompous Reporter Who's Never Been Acknowledged by His Peers." Schneider was nominated for a 2000 Razzie Award for Worst Supporting Actor but lost to Jar Jar Binks. But Schneider is correct, and Patrick Goldstein has not yet won a Pulitzer Prize. Therefore, Goldstein is not qualified to complain that Columbia financed Deuce Bigalow: European Gigolo while passing on the opportunity to participate in Million Dollar Baby, Ray, The Aviator, Sideways, and Finding Neverland. As chance would have it, I have won the Pulitzer Prize, and so I am qualified. Speaking in my official capacity as a Pulitzer Prize winner, Mr. Schneider, your movie sucks. Roger Ebert's I Hated, Hated, Hated This Movie, which gathered some of his most scathing reviews, was a bestseller. This collection continues the tradition of reviewing not only movies that were at the bottom of the barrel but also movies that he found underneath the barrel.

Videos that Teach 3 Doug Fields, Eddie James, 2004 Providing a format that engages students to discuss real-world issues, this book features seventy-five video clips from recent movies you can use to illustrate topics, including summaries of the movie and the clip start/stop times and Scripture references.
