Hkdse Ict Past Paper:

Validating Technological Innovation David Coniam, Peter Falvey, 2016-04-02 This book discusses Hong Kong's use of onscreen marking OSM in public examinations. Given that Hong Kong leads the way in OSM innovation, this book has arisen from a recognised need to provide a comprehensive coherent account of the findings of various separate but linked validation studies of onscreen public examinations in Hong Kong. The authors discuss their experience of the validation process, demonstrating how high stakes innovation should be fully validated by a series of research studies in order to satisfy key stakeholders.

The Tyranny of Writing Constanze Weth, Kasper Juffermans, 2018-01-25 This book examines the powerful role of writing in society. The invention of writing independently at various places and times in history always stood at the cradle of powerful civilizations. It is impossible to imagine modern life without writing. As individuals and social groups, we hold high expectations of its potential for societal and personal development. Globally, huge resources have been and are being invested in promoting literacy worldwide. So what could possibly be tyrannical about writing? The title is inspired by Ferdinand de Saussure's argument against writing as an object of linguistic research and what he called la tyrannie de la lettre. His critique denounced writing as an imperfect, distorted image of speech that obscures our view of language and its structure. The chapters of the book, written by experts in language and literacy studies, go beyond this and explore tyrannical aspects of writing in society through history and around the world, from Medieval Novgorod, the European Renaissance, and 19th century France and Germany, over colonial Sudan, to postcolonial Sri Lanka and Senegal, and present-day Hong Kong and Central China, to the Netherlands and Spain. The metaphor of tyranny of writing serves as a heuristic for exploring ideologies of language and literacy in culture and society, and tensions and contradictions between the written and the spoken word.
