ICANN '93 Stan Gielen, Bert Kappen, 2012-12-06 This book contains the proceedings of the International Conference on Artificial Neural Networks which was held between September 13 and 16 in Amsterdam. It is the third in a series which started two years ago in Helsinki and which last year took place in Brighton. Thanks to the European Neural Network Society ICANN has emerged as the leading conference on neural networks in Europe. Neural networks is a field of research which has enjoyed a rapid expansion and great popularity in both the academic and industrial research communities. The field is motivated by the commonly held belief that applications in the fields of artificial intelligence and robotics will benefit from a good understanding of the neural information processing properties that underlie human intelligence. Essential aspects of neural information processing are highly parallel execution of computation, integration of memory and process, and robustness against fluctuations. It is believed that intelligent skills such as perception, motion, and cognition can be easier realized in neurocomputers than in a conventional computing paradigm. This requires active research in neurobiology to extract computational principles from experimental neurobiological findings, in physics and mathematics to study the relation between architecture and function in neural networks, and in cognitive science to study higher brain functions such as language and reasoning. Neural networks technology has already led to practical methods that solve real problems in a wide area of industrial applications. The clusters on robotics and applications contain sessions on various sub-topics in these fields.

Learning to Read: An Integrated View from Research and Practice Terezinha Nunes, 2012-12-06 Literacy research has continued to develop at a rapid pace in these last five years of the millennium. New ideas about how children learn to read have led to a better understanding of the causes of progress and failure in the mastery of literacy, with repercussions for children's assessment and teacher education. These new discoveries also allow teachers to transcend the old debates in reading instruction: phonics versus whole language, and offer the path to a synthesis. At the same time, research with teachers about their own implementation of methods and the development of their own knowledge about the teaching of literacy has produced a fresh analysis of the practice of literacy teaching. Inspired by these developments, teachers, teacher educators, and researchers worked together to produce this volume which promotes the integration of literacy research and practice.
