MORE THAN A MEDAL

By Alice Amos

Medals for the 2024 Olympic and Paralympic Games in Paris will feature scrap metal from the Tower taken during refurbishments and repairs.

The metal leftovers (from the Eiffel Tower) had been stored for years in a warehouse in a secret location but are now finally getting a new purpose. Thierry Reboul, creative director of Paris 2024, said: "It's the opportunity for the athletes to bring back a piece of Paris with them. The absolute symbol of Paris and France is the Eiffel Tower."

A French luxury jewellery firm based in Paris designed the medals and 5,084 of them will be produced by France's mint, the Monnaie de Paris. The scrap metal will make up the centre pieces of the gold, silver and bronze medals, with hexagon-shaped pieces forged out of the scrap iron. Hexagons are said to represent France, with the country sometimes referred to as "L'Hexagone" because of its shape.

Six small clasps that hold the iron pieces in the medals are a nod at the 2.5 million rivets that

An artistic representation of the proposed plan for the medals at the Olympics 2024 held in France.

Braille, who invented the reading and writing system for visually impaired people.

Braille is a system of raised dots that enables a blind person or someone with a visual impairment to read and write. They use their fingers to feel the shape of the dots, which tells them what the words are.

Ksnewspaper Report Example:

The Wedding Report Hans-Jürg Suter, 1993-09-01 Traditional text types or genres are complex linguistic sociocultural and cognitive phenomena that can only be analysed in flexible interdisciplinary frameworks fusing structural and process oriented approaches and combining quantitative description with qualitative interpretation and evaluation The theoretical and methodological implications of the prototypical text type concept which is developed in this book are explored in an exhaustive case study of a representative ie prototypical genre the wedding report a conventional type of news report published in local English newspapers The distinctive contextual and textual features situational context text production processes function thematic structure and form on the macro and microlevel are analysed synchronically and diachronically The linguistic findings are integrated into a comprehensive view of the interplay between the genre as a linguistic frame and its sociocultural context The study puts special emphasis on addressing the methodological problems arising from the inherent fuzziness of traditional text types and can thus serve as a detailed working model of genre analysis designed to be adapted to the specific requirements of similar studies

Focus on Writing Composition Ray Barker, Louis Fidge, 1999 The supporting Teacher Resource Books offer practical advice on organising and using the course and provide a comprehensive range of further teaching ideas that cover all links with the NLS

News in a Digital Age Kavanagh, Marcellino, Jonathan S. Blake, Smith, Davenport, Tebeka, 2019-05-14 This report presents a quantitative assessment of how the presentation of news has changed over the past 30 years and how it varies across platforms Over time and as society moved from old to new media news content has generally shifted from more objective event and context based reporting to reporting that is more subjective relies more heavily on argumentation and advocacy and includes more emotional appeals

Exploring the Lexis Grammar Interface Ute Römer, Rainer Schulze, 2009-03-11 This volume showcases studies that recognize and provide evidence for the inseparability of lexis and grammar The contributors explore in what ways these two areas often treated separately in linguistic theory and description form an organic whole The papers in Section I Setting the Scene introduce some of the key methodological approaches and theoretical positions at the lexis grammar interface while Section II Considering the Particulars contains papers that report on case studies and show concrete applications of the central methods and theories Exploring the Lexis Grammar Interface is a stimulating collection of papers for anyone who wishes to learn more about and get fresh state of the art perspectives on language patterning

International News in the Digital Age Judith Clarke, Michael Bromley, 2012-01-25 The new research presented in this volume suggests that general perceptions cultural psychological geographical allied to the customs and values of journalism and underpinned by the uses of technology significantly shape international news This gives rise to a blend of the old and the new traditions of cultural centredness and innovative practices anchorages of place and the rootlessness of globalization Technology per se has not swept all before it On the other hand its uses have altered the means and methods of international news sourcing construction and dissemination Consequently the uptake of technology has contributed to fundamental changes in style and form and has greatly facilitated cross cultural exchanges The category international news is now more of a hybrid as recognized by the BBC and others The chapters in this book demonstrate that this hybridity is unevenly distributed across geo political domains and often across time Nevertheless as the contributors to this volume show the concept of international news relies on tightly interwoven elements of orthodox journalism social media civic expression and public assembly

Donald J. Trump's Presidency Chuka Onwumehili, 2023-12-04 This book captures Donald J Trump s presidency by addressing the remarkable tropes that defined that period It offers research based investigations of the communicative aspects of Trump s presidency with a focus on race immigration xenophobia and social conflicts as they interact with communication The book utilizes research data to capture critical moments of the presidency Chapters examine metadiscourse during President Trump s press events where he accused the media of Nasty Question and Fake News offer computational framing analysis to expose the communication of racism and xenophobia in US Mexico cross border wall discourses and provide critical textual analysis of select episodes of CW s critically acclaimed TV show Jane the Virgin exposing how citizenship or lack thereof shapes one s relationship to the state and surrounding communities They also offer textual analysis to demonstrate how a predominantly White newsroom differs from a newsroom that is racially diverse against the backdrop of the coverage of two politically charged issues of Black Lives Matter and Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals DACA and explore interdisciplinary concepts related to understanding immigrants and sojourners believability evaluation of disinformation Donald J Trump s Presidency will be a key resource for scholars and researchers of communication studies political communication media and cultural studies race and ethnic studies and political science while also appealing to anyone interested in the communicative aspects of Trump s presidency and American politics This book was originally published as a special issue of the Howard Journal of Communications

News Reporting And Editing K.M. Shrivastava (rev. Edn.), The Discourse of Broadcast News Martin Montgomery, 2007-11-01 In this timely and important study Martin Montgomery unpicks the inside workings of what must still be considered the dominant news medium broadcast news Drawing principally on linguistics but multidisciplinary in its scope The Discourse of Broadcast News demonstrates that news programmes are as much about showing as telling as much about ordinary bystanders as about experts and as much about personal testimony as calling politicians to account Using close analysis of the discourse of television and radio news the book reveals how important conventions for presenting news are changing with significant consequences for the ways audiences understand its truthfulness Fully illustrated with examples and including detailed examination of the high profile case of ex BBC journalist Andrew Gilligan The Discourse of Broadcast News provides a comprehensive study which will challenge our current assumptions about the news The Discourse of Broadcast News will be a key resource for anyone researching the news whether they be students of language and linguistics media studies or communication studies

Tell Our Story Julie Reid, Dale T. McKinley, 2020-05-01 Focusing on three South African communities the authors dismiss the idea that some groups are voiceless arguing that they are being deliberately ignored by dominant news media The dominant news media are often accused of reflecting an elite bias privileging and foregrounding the interests of a small segment of society while ignoring the narratives of the majority The authors of Tell Our Story investigate this problem and offer a hands on demonstration of listening journalism and research in practice In the process they dismiss the idea that some groups are voiceless arguing that what is often described in such terms is mostly a matter of those groups being deliberately ignored Focusing their attention on three very different South African communities they delve into the life and struggle narratives of each exposing the divide between the stories told by the people who actually live in the communities and the way in which those stories have been understood and shaped by the media The three communities are those living in the Glebelands hostel complex in Durban where over 100 residents have been killed in politically motivated violence in the past few years the Xolobeni community on the Wild Coast which has been resisting the building of a new toll road and a dune mining venture and Thembelihle a settlement south west of Johannesburg that has been resisting removal for many years The book concludes with a set of practical guidelines for journalists on the practice of listening journalism

discourse was shaped over time by external factors such as the historical context news production technological innovation and current affairs and as such both conformed to and deviated from generic conventions Using data from a newspaper corpus it offers the first empirical study into the development of style in early mass media In this analysis media style appears as a dynamic concept which is highly sensitive to innovative approaches towards making news not only informative but also entertaining to read This cutting edge survey will be of interest to academics researching corpus linguistics media discourse and stylistics

Reported Speech in Chinese and English Newspapers XIN Bin,GAO Xiaoli,2021-05-25

Reported speech is a universal form across human languages However previous studies have tended to be limited because they mostly emphasize on the form and authenticity of reported speech while its discourse and pragmatic functions have largely been ignored Meanwhile the studies mainly focus on English with a comparative perspective with other languages largely missing Acknowledging these limitations this book analyzes the textual and pragmatic functions of reported speech in Chinese and English The authors build a corpus comprising of twelve Chinese and English newspapers including China Daily and The New York Times They examine the classification and distribution of reported speech the form and function in different news genres and contexts and the socio pragmatic interpretation of reported speech in news and other issues This title can enrich comparative linguistic research verify the feasibility of combining critical linguistics and corpus technology and help improve the production and understanding of news reports Students and scholars of critical discourse analysis comparative linguistics corpus linguistics as well as communication studies will find this to be an essential guide
